CREE INDIANS SING FOR KING AND QUEEN IN TRIBAL TONGUE

Their Majesties Receive Provincial and Civic Welcome at Alberta Capital—Edmonton's Reception Regarded as Most Spontaneous Yet —Visitors Estimated at 100,000

EDMONTON, June 2 (CP).—Mumbled Cree Indian words to "God Save the King" struck the ears of the King and Queen today as they spent six and one-half hours in this most northerly spot they will visit during their route of Canada and the United States.

Soon after Their Majesties arrived here at 3:30 p.m. (M.S.T.) they passed an Indian encampment on Portage Avenue, where 1,200 Crees, most of them self-conscious and disinclined to sing, chanted the words of the National Anthem in a language the Royal couple had never heard before.

The Cree demonstrations was the most interesting feature of a day that included a welcome by Alberta's Social Credit Premier, William Aberhart, a civic greeting by Mayor Fry, a private tea with Alberta's Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. C. Bowen, a twelve-mile drive through Edmonton and a Provincial Government dinner at which the King and Queen ate with Alberta notables.

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS

Edmonton's normal population of 89,000 was swelled by at least 100,000 visitors, who came into the Alberta capital by airplane, special trains and buses from the Northland and the broad wheat country.

Six-year-old Rosie Samson, daughter of an Indian chief from Hobbema, fifty miles south of Edmonton, handed Their Majesties a gun case, tobacco pouch and belt, all in beaded buckskin. Rosie herself was decked out in white buckskin, and the Queen spent several minutes talking to her.

Previously Queen Elizabeth accepted a beaded buckskin tobacco pouch from an Indian boy and an Indian girl in Calgary.

Trappers came out of the mining country hundreds of miles north of here, and ranchers left their herds

HEATED CLASH IN PARLIAMENT

Use Unparliamentary Terms In Exchange Between Minister and Member

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP).—Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata) called Finance Minister Charles Dunning a "coward" in the House of Commons today when the minister refused to withdraw remarks which Mr. Pouliot claimed were unparliamentary.

Earlier in the day Mr. Dunning said Mr. Pouliot had "vilely slandered" the deputy minister of finance (Dr. W. C. Clark). Reading the dictionary definition of "vile," Mr. Pouliot claimed it was unparliamentary and asked that the word be withdrawn. "I have slandered nobody," he said. Mr. Dunning made no answer and Mr. Pouliot went on: "If he does not withdraw I apply to him all that is in the dictionary and to his deputy minister. He is just a coward."

Mr. Dunning jumped to his feet to say "coward" was unparliamentary and Speaker Pierre Casgrain agreed.

The incident had its origin when in opposing the Mortgage Bank Bill, Mr. Pouliot said: "I cannot understand how it is that the big boss of Dominion finance should be the very one who has wrecked an old, reputable concern by unsound investments."

Spur Trade With China In England

LONDON, June 2 (CP).—Creation of a new organization to spur Anglo-Chinese trade relations, to be known as the Chinese Government Trading Commission, was announced tonight. Aims of the new commission will be to develop commercial exchanges between the two countries, facilitate the sale of Chinese goods here and elsewhere, and place orders for the Central Chinese Government and the local Chinese authorities.

UNABLE TO HOLD CROWD

Hundreds of Troops Called Out to Clear Way for King's Car

EDMONTON, June 2 (CP).—More than 500 emergency troops were called out tonight to control dense crowds that jammed the square in front of the hotel where King George and Queen Elizabeth attended the Alberta Government dinner.

When Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Edmonton police and veterans failed to hold in the 100-foot square opening in front of the hotel, troops were called from the barracks and they managed to clear a pathway just wide enough for the Royal car to get to the hotel steps.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King left his car about twenty-five feet from the hotel entrance in an effort to arrive more quickly, but the crowds closed suddenly and he had to push vigorously through the tightly-packed people.

MANY COLLAPSE

Many in the crowd had waited since before 6 p.m. to catch a glimpse of Their Majesties, and more than 250 collapsed before the King and Queen appeared on the mezzanine balcony at 9:42 p.m. and remained there two and a half minutes.

The crowd of about 50,000 that lined the five-and-a-half-block route to the hotel and stood in the hotel square was good-natured and sang songs until Their Majesties appeared. Then they cheered wildly and they repeated the performance when the King and Queen left the hotel and started for the station fifteen minutes later.

The Social Credit Band, on the mezzanine balcony, played while the crowd waited. About 225 members of the Calgary Highlanders, here for

Troops Reported In Major Battle With Arab Band

New Wave of Bloodshed Sweeps Over Holy Land —British Soldiers and Jewish Police Killed When on Road Patrol—Score Wounded By Explosion of Bomb in Market

JERUSALEM, June 2 (AP).—British troops were reported tonight to be fighting a major engagement in the Kalkaliya hills with an Arab band as a new wave of bloodshed swept the Holy Land.

The Arab band during the day killed four British soldiers and three Jewish police who were on a road patrol.

In addition, six Arabs were killed, including a native policeman, when a time bomb exploded in a market place near the Jaffa gate. The bomb burst amid a shopping crowd. A score of Arabs were wounded so seriously they were taken to hospitals.

HORROR AT OUTBURST

Horror gripped the Holy Land in the wake of the outburst. Tension grew hourly as police and military authorities strove to retain order by swift punitive measures and with ceaseless patrols in all sections of Jerusalem.

The Arab band wiped out the road patrol of four Britons and three Jews thirty-five miles northwest of Jerusalem and seized a machine gun and other arms.

PLACES ORDERS FOR WARSHIPS

Two Battleships Among the Twenty-Four Craft to Be Built Immediately

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP).—The United States Navy, making a tremendous spurt in the world race for sea power, placed orders today for two 45,000-ton battleships and twenty-two other vessels. The new armada is expected to cost $350,000,000.

Assistant Secretary Charles Edison indicated that a major purpose of this action, unprecedented since the Great War, was to speed restoration of the five-to-three ratio of superiority over Japan in tonnage. This ratio was established in naval treaties, but the treaties are now defunct, and Edison told reporters today:

MARGIN FIVE TO FOUR

"To the best of our information, the margin is now only about five to four Japan and Great Britain were building during the years when we were idle."

Without waiting for funds to become available on June 1, the start of a new fiscal year, the Navy ordered work started on nineteen of the twenty-three ships for which Congress provided in the $873,000,000 appropriation bill President Roosevelt signed last week. The other five ships ordered today had been authorized previously.

CATTLE START ON LONG TREK

Large Herd to Be Built Up One Hundred Miles From Prince George

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., June 2 (CP).—A carload of pedigreed Hereford cattle today was unloaded at Vanderhoof, B.C., sixty miles west of here, to start a 100-mile overland trek to the Frontier Cattle Company's ranch, which borders Tweedsmuir Park on the south.

The shipment is the first of a proposed herd of 2,000 Herefords the company intends to put on extensive range land.

OVER HISTORIC TRAIL

The herd will be driven south to the Blackwater River, then westward along practically the same route taken by Sir Alexander Mackenzie in 1792, when he made the way to the Pacific Ocean.

The Frontier Cattle Company, formed by New York financiers and cattle ranchers from Montana, has operated a test herd of 300 head on the range for the past three years. R. Hobson, Jr., son of an officer of the United States battleship Maine, blown up in Havana Harbor during the Spanish-American war, is manager of the large ranch.

Janitor Foils Thugs' Attempt at Robbery Of Branch Bank Here

James J. Bichard, Menaced by Bandits' Guns in Douglas and Bay Street Office of Canadian Bank of Commerce, Summons Aid

COURAGEOUS action by James J. Bichard, sixty, 551 David Street, prevented robbery of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Douglas and Bay Streets early yesterday morning. Police of Vancouver Island spread a dragnet for two men who hid on the premises and lay in wait for some employee to open the vault.

Mr. Bichard, who is janitor at the bank, arrived at 7.50 o'clock. He opened the main entrance and proceeded to switch off a light over the vault. Two men, about thirty years of age, wearing white cloths over their faces, pointed revolvers in his direction.

One of them asked: "Are you coming in here?" "Don't look at us, and don't say anything," the other commanded. Mr. Bichard was then ordered to proceed to the private office of J. C. Newmarch, manager of the bank.

Both thugs had revolvers of gunmetal color. One of them, a 32-calibre weapon, had been stolen from the bank. The men were roughly dressed and wore black leather gloves. They carried a piece of rope with which they probably intended to tie up a victim.

SESSION MAY CLOSE TODAY

Prorogation to Take Place As Soon as Senate Passes Mortgage Bill

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP). — The House of Commons today finished business on hand and awaited decisions from the Senate on the Central Mortgage Bank Bill and from its own public accounts committee on the Bren gun contract before prorogation of the 1939 session of Parliament, which may take place tomorrow.

After a few hours' discussion, which brought opposition from two Conservatives and one Liberal, the House gave third reading to the mortgage bank bill, designed to effect reductions in principal and interest on some mortgages and provide refinancing facilities for mortgage companies.

SENATE HAS BILL

The bill was sent to the Senate, which had cleaned up other business and went to work on it at once. If the Senate passes the bill without material change, Parliament will probably prorogue tomorrow.

Finance Minister Charles Dunning assured the House the bill would not impair the credit of Canada through the assumption by the Government of one-half the write-down on mortgages required from companies becoming members of the Central Mortgage Bank. On the contrary, he believed, by improving the credit standing of thousands of people throughout Canada, it would enhance national credit.

The sharpest criticism of the bill came from Hon. C. H. Cahan (Cons., St. Lawrence-St. George) and J. F. Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata). Mr. Cahan said that in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, the bill was regarded as the "worst racket ever attempted to be perpetrated on men who are honest and meet their debts as they come due." Mr. Pouliot said it was unsound and a venture in state socialism.

Hon. H. H. Stevens (Cons., Kootenay East) joined with Mr. Cahan in the belief the plan would undermine national character through relieving of their debts persons who were fully able to pay them.

FOUR FLYERS DIE IN TWO CRASHES

Royal Air Force Machines Are Wrecked in Lincolnshire and Off Sussex Coast

LONDON, June 2 (CP).—Four Royal Air Force flyers were killed today and a fifth was reported missing when two planes, one of them a naval craft, crashed.

Three of the victims—Pilot Officer H. S. James, Sergt. H. Killock and Aircraftsman D. E. Shimmin—died when their plane crashed near Hemswell, Lincolnshire.

The naval plane fell into the sea tonight off Littlehampton, Sussex with three aboard. Midshipman Hugh Lawley Chartieris was killed. Lieut. Jack Robertson was reported missing. Pilot Officer Antony Simmons Vdini was rescued by a fishing boat.

TO PURCHASE MUNITIONS

ANKARA, June 2 (AP).—A Turkish military mission left last night for London to confer with the British General Staff and to purchase warplanes, munitions and other war materials.

GOING ON HUNT FOR PREHISTORIC REMAINS

TORONTO, June 2 (CP).—Headed by Dr. L. S. Russell, assistant director of the Royal Ontario Museum, an expedition will leave Toronto on June 14 for Southwestern Saskatchewan to comb the Cypress Hills region for remains of prehistoric mammals, it was announced tonight.

The expedition hopes to find bones similar to those uncovered in South Dakota Badlands.

FAINT TAPPINGS SPUR ENDEAVOR IN SEEMINGLY HOPELESS TASK

Navy Rescue Squads Work Feverishly in Efforts To Rescue Ninety Men in Disabled Submarine —Strong Tides Prove Serious Obstacle In Earlier Efforts to Save Lives

Estimated Time for Supply Of Air to Last at an End

BIRKENHEAD, England, June 3 (AP).—The first rays of sunrise—thirty-nine hours after the British submarine Thetis dived to disaster—today found all resources of the Royal Navy laboring at the seemingly hopeless task of saving some ninety men from death.

Faint tappings from inside the hull of the disabled vessel were reported by divers at 2 a.m. (6 p.m., M.S.T., Friday) to the experts who had estimated the life-giving air would be exhausted in a thirty-six-hour period; to the builders who had given up the trapped men soon after midnight, and to Admiralty officials who acknowledged hope was "diminishing" before midnight.

However forlorn any hope might be, when sunrise lit up Liverpool Bay, on the edge of the Irish Sea, navy rescue squads—from admirals to divers—were working feverishly.

SUPREME EFFORT

They intended to make a supreme effort under daylight conditions and with the low tide due at 6 a.m. to raise the Thetis to the surface by tugs or a bevy of compressed air pontoons.

The Thetis took ninety-four men under water in her test dive Thursday afternoon. Friday four escaped alive through the Davis lung. Unconfirmed reports indicated three others had tried to escape and were drowned.

Divers reported the tappings heard two hours after builders of the submarine had abandoned hope for the men.

Offers to Take Jewish Refugees So Much a Head

HAVANA, June 3 (Saturday) (AP).—The Government of the Dominican Republic, in the West Indies, has offered to accept, on payment of a $500-a-person landing fee, the 907 homeless Jewish refugees aboard the German liner St. Louis, it was announced here early today.

Flies North For Survey Of Defences

VANCOUVER, June 2 (CP).—Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, arrived here tonight after a quick plane trip to Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte Islands, where he inspected coast fortifications.

Mr. Mackenzie flew from here to Prince Rupert and then to Alford Bay on Moresby Island in the Queen Charlotte group this afternoon. He traveled directly from Moresby Island to Vancouver tonight and made the triangle return flight in less than twelve hours.

The minister did not stop at Patricia Bay, Vancouver Island, as was expected.

EXPECTS HELP OF YUGOSLAVIA

Germany Confident Balkan State Will Remain Helpful to Reich

BERLIN, June 2 (AP).—Informed Nazis expressed the conviction tonight, after the Regent of Yugoslavia had been shown a cross-section of Germany's military might, that his country would remain helpful to Berlin in the Balkans.

Great Britain and France, they asserted, would not be able to woo Yugoslavia into what Nazis charge is the plan of London and Paris to "encircle" the Rome-Berlin axis partners.

In the Nazi view, Prince Paul, Yugoslavia's Regent during the minority of fifteen-year-old King Peter, intends to maintain neutrality.

NAZI INTERPRETATION

They said that this was the meaning of his response to the toast at a state dinner on Thursday night in which Chancellor Hitler pledged respect "for all time" for Yugoslavia's frontier with Germany.

The regent, here for a five-day state visit, replied with an expression of gratification that Germany "intends to recognize Yugoslavia's freedom and independence."

A neutral Yugoslavia aloof from the Anglo-French front and delivering 50 per cent or more of her raw materials to Germany and another large percentage to Italy, it was said, is all that Germany wants.

LAST STRONGHOLD

REGINA, June (CP).—If the peoples of Europe indulge in war, this continent will become the last stronghold of culture, Sir Ernest MacMillan, president of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and conductor of Toronto Symphony Orchestra, said in an interview here today.

URGE POLICY BE REVISED

Board Recommends Drastic Changes in Handling of British Unemployment

LONDON, June 2 (CP). — Drastic revision of policy in dealing with Great Britain's unemployment problem is advocated in a report made public by the Unemployment Assistance Board, which last year paid out £34,750,000 ($162,630,000) to nearly 600,000 jobless on its rolls.

The board's report, based on a long-range inquiry by more than 100 advisory committees throughout the United Kingdom, declares the urgent necessity is to overcome the paralysis caused by continued unemployment by opening up new opportunities to those who have "settled down" to a life on the dole.

FIT BUT LONG IDLE

The board draws attention to the prolonged unemployment of more than 100,000 men, thirty years and under, who are physically fit, anxious to obtain work, but by circumstances condemned to a life of idleness. Of this number nearly 60 per cent had no employment, or less than six months, during the past three years.

Unskilled workers and those who had become victims of "blind alley" employment, the inquiry shows, account for the largest group of chronic jobless.

ACCEPTANCE IN TRAINING

As a first step in tackling the problem anew, the board calls for revision of the policy of granting unconditional allowances. To counter apathy and listlessness, it urged in-

Premier Gets Biggest Vote Ever Counted

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 2 (CP-Havas). — Premier Armand Calinescue received 170,000 votes in yesterday's Chamber of Deputies election, "more than any other man in Rumanian political history," the official news agency announced tonight.

Incomplete returns indicated that all members of the Government were returned to office.

Election Shortly in Dominion Probable As Result of Tour

List of 268 Federal Enumerators Prepared and Ready in Victoria Today, as Returning Officers Across Canada Prepare for General Poll

FEDERALLY, Victoria is being made ready for a general election at any time. This was made clear yesterday as the House of Commons prepared to wind up its business at Ottawa, and as returning officers across the country issued final instructions for the selection of enumerators, two to each polling division.

Sydney Child, returning officer in the Victoria Federal riding received his instructions as to the preparation of the list of enumerators two weeks ago. As the statute provides he called for names from the two political associations which had stood highest at the polls on the last occasion—Liberals and Conservative in this case.

ENUMERATORS CHOSEN

From the Victoria Conservative Association and the Victoria Liberal Association, Mr. Child has called for the names of 134 enumerators each, or 268 enumerators in all for the 134 polling divisions of the Federal voters' list. The names were returnable by the associations yesterday, and Mr. Child will make his final selection today, he said.

After that, the whole machinery will stand ready against the day a general election may be called. Returning officers had no advices as to that, as yet.

With Parliament to prorogue at once and the Royal tour nearing completion, however, the Dominion poll may come much sooner than was considered likely a few weeks ago, political observers believe.

REFUGEE SHIP LEAVES HAVANA

German Liner Starts Return Trip With Disappointed Jewish Passengers

HAVANA, Cuba, June 2 (AP).—A shipload of 907 German Jewish refugees sailed out of Havana Harbor today, heartened somewhat by a shipboard rumor that they might yet find new homes in the Western World after being denied entry into Cuba.

Hamburg, Germany their starting point, was the destination of the German liner St. Louis, whose departure marked another unsuccessful attempt by German Jews to settle in this hemisphere.

But to avoid collective suicide attempts, word was spread on board that the United States Government had authorized their landing in New York if continuing efforts for their entry into Cuba failed.

Kept from them was the news from Washington that Government officials there said no arrangements had been made for them to land in New York or any other United States port.

ANCHORS OFF HAVANA

MIAMI, Fla., June 2 (AP).—The Hamburg-American liner St. Louis is not proceeding across the Atlantic to Germany with its 907 Jewish refugees who were denied admission to Cuba, The Miami Herald states in a story tonight from a staff member who witnessed the departure of the ship from Havana at noon. Instead it is anchored approximately twelve miles off Havana, the paper said.

An airplane check made by the writer, just before dusk confirmed the liner's position and the fact that she was not moving.

PROFIT BY BETS ON SURE THING

Bookmakers Lose Thousands by Taking Wagers After Finish Of Horse Races

ST. LOUIS, June 2 (AP).—Two betting operators told tonight a [illegible] tale of radio-equipped patrons who bet after the finish but before telegraphed race returns were in and won between $3,000 and $5,000 over a period of weeks.

The bookies and a man they claimed was one of a trio of "[illegible]thing" bettors were arrested after a street battle in which a short-wave radio set, two transmitters, three speakers, an earphone set and a couple of aerials were ripped from the bettors' car.

Another man and a woman escaped during the fracas, the operators declared. They said that the two men apparently received the returns in the car and relayed them to the woman by shortwave, short-range radio. She then would make up her mind suddenly, bet, and win.

Parliament May Not Receive Report From Bren Gun Committee

LaFleche Accuses Drew of Dealing With Secret Information—McGeer Demands Exoneration Of Official or Recommendation of Dismissal

OTTAWA, June 2 (C.P.)—A report of the Bren gun contract inquiry conducted by the Commons public accounts committee is not likely to be submitted to Parliament, scheduled to be prorogued tomorrow.

As the committee adjourned today, Conservative and C.C.F. members rejected a suggestion from G. G. McGeer (Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard) that interim reports, majority and minority if necessary, should be submitted in respect to the charges made against General L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of defence, by Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader.

SECRET INFORMATION

An accusation that Colonel Drew dealt with secret information in his evidence to the committee was made by General LaFleche, who followed Colonel Drew to the witness stand.

"Had you known the witness dealt with a secret matter and at that time I had a memorandum in my possession asking me to see that that was not disclosed," said General LaFleche.

The committee sat twice today and again tonight in an effort to finish its investigation of the contract for 7,000 Bren machine guns given John Inglis Company, Limited, Toronto, before prorogation of Parliament. Colonel Drew, author of the Maclean's Magazine article, "Canada's Armament Mystery," that caused the Royal Commission inquiry into the contract as well as the present probe, concluded his evidence today.

DUTY OF COMMITTEE

G. G. McGeer (Liberal, Vancouver-Burrard) said that a duty rested on the committee either to exonerate General LaFleche from a charge made by Colonel Drew that his evidence to the Royal Commission inquiry was not to be believed, or to recommend his dismissal.

Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie was defended by General LaFleche from a charge that the minister sought to influence his deputy in regard to the contract.

"If that is what he (Drew) meant, I brand it absolutely false in every respect," the general said. He rejected also the suggestion that Major James E. Hahn, president of the Inglis Company, had deceived him or attempted to deceive him in regard to the status of the Inglis Company.

There were war secrets given to Canada by Great Britain that "had been scattered all over this country by people which have come to the attention of the public," said General LaFleche. Colonel Drew should know the facts and should be extremely careful in dealing with such matters.

Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North) said that if Colonel Drew had divulged a secret, it was out, and General LaFleche might as well throw more light on it.

FINANCIAL STRUCTURE

Howard Green (Cons., Vancouver South) read from the magazine article by Colonel Drew paragraphs concerning the Inglis financial structure, one of which said the largest profit opportunities were in the company's stock.

After the original Inglis Company went bankrupt, Major James Hahn, president of the new Inglis Company and his associates, negotiated the purchase of the Inglis assets through a "dummy," said Colonel Drew, the promoters "took to themselves" 191,662 shares with $6 par value, equivalent to 76.6 per cent of the total issue, without cash consideration.

Sale of the treasury stock was begun to the public at $7.50 a share, and if it had not been stopped would have resulted in the promoters having all the cash they put up and control of the company, too.

G. G. McGeer (Lib., Vancouver-Burrard) said Major Hahn put up $207,000 of his own money.

Continuing his outline of the Inglis Company's set-up, Colonel Drew said Major Hahn's 107,000 shares were held by the Bank of Montreal in escrow, in the name of Investment Reserves Limited, and they were endorsed in blank.

They were known as "street certificates," a brokerage term that meant those shares could be sold "on the street" when they were released for sale by the Ontario Securities Commissioner.

NUMBER OF CERTIFICATES

Normally, said the witness, share certificates of such a large block would comprise only one document. If the owner did not intend to sell them. This stock, however, was divided into a large number of certificates of varying denominations.

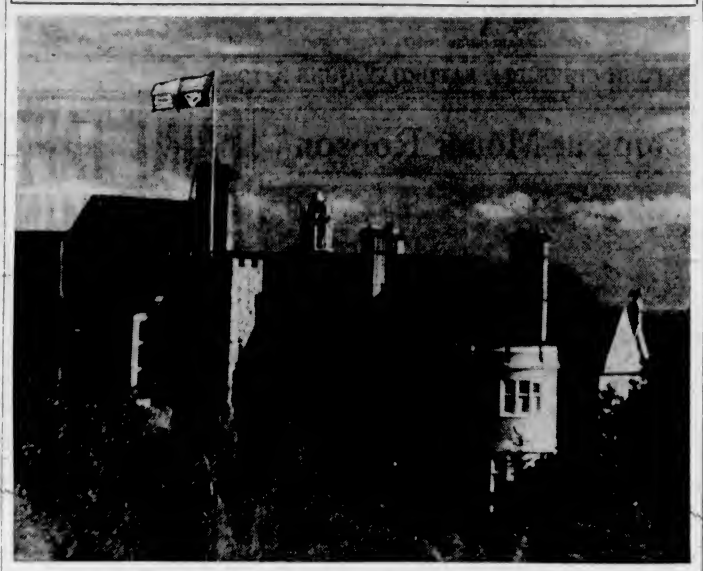

Turning to the prospectus on which the stock was sold to the public by a Montreal broker, Colonel Drew said this was "one of the worst features" of the situation. He characterized the document as "most inaccurate," saying it failed to disclose the bankruptcy of the John Inglis Company, Limited.

It referred to values placed on the old company without declaring the company was a dead concern and had just recently been revived.

The prospectus gave the impression of a purchase value of $1,400,000, "which is absolutely false," Colonel Drew said. The plant had been bought only a short time before for $250,000.

A Toronto broker had resorted to "a most ingenious" method of selling the stock, said the witness. This concern had used Drew's article in Maclean's Magazine, distributing it to prospective buyers, to show the extent of the profits the Inglis Company could make as a result of the Bren contract. This was done to encourage the sale of the stock, although, said Colonel Drew, he did not know what the results were.

Flies Royal Standard for First Time

Immediately on the arrival of the King and Queen at Government House the Royal Standard was hoisted, and continued to fly from the mast throughout Their Majesties' stay in the city. Illuminated by floodlights from beneath, it was a distinctive touch of color the moment it unfolded to the breeze, and a cheer went up from the spectators gathered about the gates to welcome the Royal visitors.

CREE INDIANS SING FOR KING AND QUEEN

in the southern plains to come to Edmonton to welcome the King and Queen. Some of them were here two days before the Royal couple arrived.

MASSED AT STATION

Thousands were massed at the station when Their Majesties arrived and other thousands were packed along Portage Avenue, Edmonton's strange two and one-quarter-mile stretch of pavement without a building on either side, which Wiley Post and other round-the-world flyers have used as a take-off runway.

When the King arrived at the Indian encampment, first stop of their stay in Edmonton, Rosie was the first to greet them. Chief Joe Samson, her father, had carefully removed a pair of rubbers from her white moccasins a few minutes before Their Majesties arrived.

Rosie, a round-faced youngster with an infectious grin, immediately took the fancy of the Queen, who stooped down to talk to her. The Cree child was so excited about the whole thing she couldn't tell reporters later what the Queen had said to her.

BREAK THROUGH LINES

Crowds broke through police lines in an effort to get closer to Their Majesties at the encampment, but they were put back behind roped barriers in a few minutes. Royal Canadian Mounted Police guards walked closely beside the Royal couple, with two Scotland Yard men.

From the encampment Their Majesties rode into the heart of the business district to the Legislative Buildings, where Premier Aberhart, who had met the Royal couple at the railway station, read a Provincial address of welcome, and the King handed him a reply, saying he and the Queen prayed "Divine Providence may continue to bring peace and prosperity to the people of this province."

Reporters who had watched parades in each city Their Majesties had visited thought Edmonton's reception was the most spontaneous they have received. The crowds were closer to the Royal car than in any other spot, and they frequently broke through police lines, but never quite reached the Royal car.

SUMMER DRESSES SEEN

The weather in Edmonton was the warmest Their Majesties have experienced in Canada. The temperature rose to 63 degrees, and printed cotton dresses, sun hats, sun glasses and bright umbrellas made their appearance for the first time.

The King looked cool in his uniform of an air marshal of the Royal Air Force, and the Queen's choice of a white crepe de Chine dress and coat was a happy one. White fox fur at the elbow, silver trimmings, pearl ear-rings and necklace and a grey parasol completed her costume.

The Provincial and civic welcomes were both gone through at the Legislative Buildings, Mayor Fry presenting his address immediately after the Premier had done so.

MANY PERSONS RECEIVED

The King and Queen then received 175 persons, including Members of the Legislature and their wives, judges and other officials.

From the Legislative Building they drove across the high-level bridge into the south side before going to their train for a rest before a Provincial Government dinner and their departure at 10 p.m. (M.S.T.).

Their Majesties were visibly impressed with the high level bridge, a $2,000,000 structure rising above the North Saskatchewan River, which has half-mile long lanes for pedestrians, cyclists, motor cars, street cars and trains.

Almost two hundred persons were invited to the Provincial Government dinner, at which Premier and Mrs. Aberhart sat with the King and Queen. Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the Lieutenant-Governor, church dignitaries and Alberta Cabinet Ministers also were at the head table.

SEVEN-HOUR STOP

Officials in charge of arrangements for Their Majesties' tour said they would sleep tonight at a spot which is being kept secret. The blue and silver Royal train will be stopped for a little more than seven hours to give Their Majesties a good night's rest.

At the dinner, Their Majesties chose from a menu that included filet of beef tenderloin, breast of chicken and lake trout, while an orchestra played Claude DeBussy's "Reverie," "My Sweet Little Alice Blue Gown," "Lassie o' Mine," and "Extase d'Amour."

Sherry, white and red Bordeaux, Champagne, Creme de Menthe and Benedictine were served during the meal, and Their Majesties were toasted in Port.

V.C.'S PRESENTED

Cheers echoed as the holders of the Victoria Cross were presented during the ceremony on the steps of the Legislative Buildings and again when Marie Stacey, nine-year-old slim little girl in blue from the Kiwanis Home, graciously stepped up to the Queen and presented a bouquet of yellow roses. The Queen spoke to her for a few seconds and then Marie stepped backward into the crowd on the steps.

The seven holders of the Victoria Cross presented were Brigadier G. R. Pearkes, Calgary, Officer Commanding M.D. 13; Lieut. Col. F. M. W. Harvey, Calgary; Major Harcus Strachan, Calgary; Sergt. R. L. Zengel, Rocky Mountain House, Alta.; Sergt. Alex Brereton, Elnora, Alta.; Pte. C. J. Kinross, Lougheed, Alta., and Pte. J. C. Kerr, of Spirit River, Alta.

In addition, and by command of His Majesty, Col. T. C. Sims and Lieut.-Col. Louis Scott, of Edmonton, were presented. Colonel Scott was an instructor at the Royal Air Force training base at Hastings in 1918 when His Majesty went there for instruction. Both the King and Queen chatted briefly with each.

QUEEN RAISES PARASOL

Early in the ceremony, when the sun came out from behind a white cloud, an equerry brought the Queen a grey parasol. With the sun beating down and the glare strong, the Queen raised the parasol and kept it over her shoulders until going into the Legislative Buildings.

The huge crowd, lining the boulevard surrounding the buildings and on the streets, pushed through the police line shortly after the Royal couple stepped out of their car and walked up the red carpet of the steps. Royal Canadian Mounted Police quickly stepped into the breach and the crowd was orderly.

Due to leave at 10 p.m., M.S.T., the Royal train did not pull out of the station until 10:10 p.m. It will make a seven-hour stop during the night at a secret siding and then tomorrow move on to Saskatoon.

KING REVIEWS GUARD

A twenty-one-gun Royal salute was fired as the train left. Previously His Majesty reviewed the guard of honor composed of 100 men of the Edmonton regiment, 49th Battalion, under command of Captain R. J. Pratley. Major W. G. Stillman, officer commanding the regiment, attended.

The five members of the main civic-provincial Royal visit committee and their wives were presented to the King and Queen on the station platform. Members of the main committee were P. W. Abbott, A. W. Haddow, H. Milton Martin, Frank Pepper, G. H. N. Monkman.

It was an unforgetably beautiful sight as the train pulled out of the station slowly in the deepening twilight, the King, in black; the Queen, in white, waving from the observation car, the crowds cheering, the bands playing and cannon booming.

FAINT TAPPINGS SPUR ENDEAVOR

An official of the builders, Cammell Laird, Limited, made the announcement shortly after midnight, near the end of the estimated thirty-six hours in which the air supply would be exhausted.

"THERE IS NO HOPE"

"I am sorry but there is no hope for the men remaining in the submarine," the official said brokenly to the crowd dotted with wives and other relatives of seamen and civilian occupants of the vessel. Nearly a thousand had gathered at the shipyard. Many of them had been waiting anxiously for twenty-four hours.

An Admiralty statement at 10 p.m. Friday that "hope is now diminishing" chilled the hearts of anxious relatives waiting throughout the darkness in Birkenhead, Devonport and other ports from which came the crew members and civilian technicians aboard.

SALIENT FACTS

While there was no official explanation of the accident, these were salient facts of the disaster and attempts to effect a rescue.

Rescue for the new vessel was started three hours after she submerged in a test dive preparatory to being turned over to the Admiralty.

At 7:50 a.m. Friday, the Thetis was discovered. A 265-foot vessel, she lay in 130 feet of water with eighteen feet of the tail above water at a 45-degree angle.

The tail disappeared with a strong tide at dusk, Friday, and failed to reappear.

Before the stern went out of sight there had been attempts to cut holes to let out stale air and admit a fresh air supply to the entombed men. A hawser had been reported attached to the submarine in an effort to lift it up further. It snapped under the strain.

LIFEBOAT RETURNS

Members of a North Wales lifeboat crew which visited the chill, searchlighted scene returned with the story that three occupants of the Thetis perished in attempting to follow to the surface the only four survivors.

Their narrative suggested that others died desperately in trying to save themselves with the Davis "lung" apparatus.

Never before, said the lifeboat men, had they seen such a heart-rending drama.

Early in the evening they went to the scene, carrying doctors in their lifeboat—for hope had flamed in the afternoon when a portion of the Thetis' stern was visible.

"We were there for more than four and a half hours, and waited patiently, hoping some more would be able to get away from her," said Robin Williams, coxswain of the lifeboat.

DID NOT REAPPEAR

She did not reappear at low tide. Something—the strong tide—had dislodged her from the mud bank in which she apparently stuck nose down, and the tide hitting against the stern pushed her down to the bed of the sea.

"There were rescue vessels of all kinds around. Divers and admirals."

It had been a dramatic day of agony in which the high Spring tides had a major part.

The low early morning tide first made the stern visible. There was a rush of hope then that airlines might be attached by divers, that a hole might be made for escape from the hull, or, failing that, that navy "camels"—buoyant cylinders of compressed air—might be attached to lift the craft entirely to the surface.

But at midnight all had been tried and all had been fruitless.

The tides dragged divers away from their objectives.

CLOSELY GUARDED

The four survivors—Capt. H. P. K. Oram, Lieut. F. H. G. Woods, Chief Stoker W. C. Arnold and F. Shaw, an employee of the builders—were closely guarded. There was not the slightest official light on what they told when they were picked up by the destroyer Brazen.

All that seeped through official secrecy was that the quartette said their companions expected to follow them upward in the escape apparatus.

Although no one could say for certain why the Thetis plunged down into the mud of the shelflike bay, one supposition was that the forward torpedo tubes were flooded in the test dive.

ADMIRALTY'S STATEMENT

The Admiralty made the following announcement thirty-three hours after the 265-foot submarine went down eight miles off Lynas Point, Anglesey, Wales:

"The stern of H.M.S. Thetis did not reappear as anticipated when the tide slackened at 6 p.m. (9 a.m. P.S.T.) and an effort is now being made to lift the stern with pontoons.

"The Admiralty regrets to state, however, that hope of saving any further lives is now diminishing."

Failure of the ninety entombed men to follow the fortunate four to the surface was only one of many mystifying aspects of the accident.

Failure of the stern to reappear Friday evening lent support to a theory that a second mishap may have occurred aboard the Thetis, Friday, after the first disabling on Thursday.

Such reasoning was based on the fact that when the four survivors daringly ascended on Friday morning, they said their companions were planning to follow them immediately. What a second accident might been, no one could say.

FLY TO ASSIST

Flown from the Orkney Islands to assist in the rescue operations were six salvage experts who helped in the tremendous task of raising the whole German fleet at Scapa Flow, where it was scuttled at the end of the Great War.

Announcement of the tappings aroused faint hopes that the worst disaster in the history of underseas navigation might be averted.

However, low tide was not expected before about 6 a.m. and this would be more than four hours beyond the thirty-six-hour deadline passed at 1:40 a.m., which experts estimated, would be the maximum time for exhaustion of the air supply of the Thetis.

The most costly submarine disaster on record was on August 21, 1923, when eighty-five were lost in a Japanese submarine. Great Britain lost eighty-three men on the L-24, which sank January 10, 1924.

SPEAKING OUT!

Little Gertie was visiting her three maiden aunts, the sisters of her mother. Each held distinct and original views as to how children should be brought up. Aunt Maria thought little girls should be seen and not heard; Aunt Eliza thought they should be neither heard nor seen, and Aunt Jane was certain that little girls should not be at all. These views they expressed freely to Gertie one evening, and the conversation, being one-sided, began to flag. Gertie sat gazing into space.

"Of what are you thinking?" asked Aunt Maria sharply.

"I was just thinking what a lucky thing it was father married the sister he did," said the little girl.

Gertie was sent home next morning.

THE EXTRA ONES

"How's Mabel's affair with Jack going on?" asked Mrs. Flatte.

"Their engagement has been broken off," said Mabel's mother, stiffly.

"Well I am surprised to hear that," said Mrs. Flatte. "I was always given to understand that Mabel adored every hair on the young man's head."

Mabel's mother sniffed. "Yes, but not every hair on his shoulder as well," she shot back.

THREATENING RESTORATION

Resumption of Service Between Seattle and Orient May Be Delayed

SEATTLE, June 2 (AP). — The impasse threatening restoration of American flag service out of this port to the Orient developed today as maritime pickets met the freighter Coldbrook, arriving from the East Coast.

In the face of Maritime Union opposition, James Mullins, Washington, D.C., special representative of the Maritime Commission, said again the new crew for the first ship of the Pacific Northwest-Oriental Line would be hired according to commission practices.

He explained the men would be hired from sailors registered on the lists of United States shipping commissioners. The unions demand the men be hired from union hiring halls.

A. E. Harding, secretary of Washington District Council No. 1, Maritime Federation of the Pacific, said the Coldbrook would be picketed until the commission agrees to hire a crew in line with union demands.

"We have held conferences every day, but they have been unavailing," Harding said. "We want an agreement on this ship, the same as the unions have with all steamship companies. The Maritime Commission is out to break up the union."

The Coldbrook, first of four freighters assigned to the new service, is posted to sail Monday for Shanghai, with a full cargo lined up here, at Tacoma and Bellingham.

Airplane Models Will Compete in Contests Sunday

The Victoria Model Airplane League is hoping to carry out its twice postponed programme of model plane flying tomorrow. The contests will take place at the Pow Field, north end of Foul Bay Road, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning.

On both the former dates set for the meeting of young model plane building and flying enthusiasts, the weather conditions were not favorable. If the day proves suitable, it is expected that the last event will be completed by 5 p.m. tomorrow, after which prizes will be awarded to the winning contestants.

A good turnout of league members is expected. Judging from the number of entries for the various contests, the competitions promise to be keen.

On Tuesday afternoon half the ship's company will be taken to Butchart's sunken gardens and from there to Elk Lake for a picnic and naval sports. The other half of the company will enjoy a drive and picnic on Friday afternoon.

Capt. H. R. G. Kinahan and officers will be guests of the city on Wednesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock during an official luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Naval Veterans, Canadian Legion, will be hosts to the ship's company on Thursday night during a smoking concert in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

Arrangements are being made for cricket and a soccer match for the Naval Veterans' Cup. An Orion cricket team will visit Duncan on Friday.

At Royal Athletic Park on Friday night, H.M.S. Orion band of twenty-eight pieces will beat the retreat at 7:30 o'clock. There will also be a physical education display and numbers by the Russian School of Dancing.

START TRIAL OF MURDER CHARGE

Preliminary Hearing of Nanaimo Indian's Case Adjourned—Several Witnesses Heard

NANAIMO, June 2—The preliminary hearing of Simon McLean, thirty-year-old Indian charged with murder, after an all-day session before Stipendiary Magistrate C. H. Beevor-Potts, was late this afternoon adjourned until Monday morning next, when evidence by pathologists from Victoria and local medical men will be heard. McLean is charged with the murder of Isabelle Rice, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rice, Indian residents of No. 1 Indian Reserve, adjoining Nanaimo on the south. The little girls was missed by her mother at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, May 7. Mrs. Rice, the mother of seven children, told today of having conducted a search for her daughter all through the night and of the finding by a search party of the body, stuffed in a sack in the bush within a few yards of her home at 9:40 o'clock Monday morning.

Constable T. Gunn, who with Constable H. Daubeney organized a search party on Monday morning, which resulted in the finding of the body, testified to having later examined the clothing of McLean, on which he had found stains resembling blood. He had been told by George Rice to make the examination.

McLean was, later in the day arrested, under a technical charge of drunkenness, for which he was sentenced to four days in jail. In the meantime, police had been collecting evidence of McLean's movements, which resulted in the charge of murder being laid. A coroner's jury had brought in a verdict of "brutal attack and murder by some person unknown."

INDIANS' EVIDENCE

Most of the evidence today was given by Indians of the reserve regarding McLean's movements on the afternoon of Sunday, May 7, and Sunday night.

Arthur Leighton, acting Crown prosecutor, explained that several Indian witnesses are at present in Washington berry picking, and it may be necessary to make further postponements to obtain the presence of these witnesses.

Simon McLean was the manager of the Indian lacrosse team. Between 6.30 and 8.30 o'clock on the evening of May 7 the Indians had a lacrosse practice. McLean was not present, and thus far in the case no witnesses have been produced who saw him during those two hours.

In her evidence, Mrs. Rice stated that on Sunday afternoon McLean came to her home and started arguing with her husband. He was angry about lacrosse matters, she said, and finally he had said "I'll fix you; you will never forget it." He had then left the house, and she had not seen him again until she saw him with the searchers when the body was found.

McLean was not represented by counsel and declined to ask questions after witnesses had concluded their evidence.

"So the burglar plundered your whole house! What about the revolver you keep under your pillow?"

"Ah, he didn't find that!"

YUGOSLAVIA

Herr Hitler has given a guarantee, by word of mouth, that the borders of Yugoslavia will be respected by Germany. Presumably, however, if that State threw in her lot with the non-aggression Powers the guarantee would be withdrawn, as it was in the case of Poland. There is a diversity of opinion in Yugoslavia regarding the alignment of her friendships, and as to the direction in which her destiny is secure. By instinct the country is democratic. There are, however, within its bounds both disruptive and opportunist elements. The visit of Prince Paul to Berlin and the character of his reception must be indicative of the course that Yugoslavia intends to pursue. It is one that is being pursued, not so much because of any particular desire for an alliance with Germany as because of fear of Italian aggression.

So far as the dispatches tell, the non-aggression Powers do not seem to have exerted themselves to induce Yugoslavia to join the non-aggression bloc. That bloc has had preoccupations elsewhere. Presumably, therefore, the Government at Belgrade and the responsible leaders in Zagreb will accept Herr Hitler's word and trust him to prevent any Italian adventure against Yugoslavia such as enchained Albania. It may be remembered, however, that the people of Yugoslavia are realists and not dreamers, that they believe in deeds and not in words. They are a valorous and war-seasoned people, and no doubt will keep their powder dry.

UNIFICATION

Senator Arthur Meighen has as keen an insight into actualities as any politician in the country. That is why he has reached the conclusion, in the face of his party's declaration to the contrary, that unification, or unified management, is the only true solution of the country's railway problem. His judgment was determined on the basis of the evidence submitted to the Senate Railway Committee, and was uninfluenced by party politics. It is significant that Senator Meighen should have this viewpoint, but quite understandable in the face of developments. No one had more to do with the setting up of the Canadian National Railway system than he had, and he believed at the time it would work out to the country's advantage. He knows now that a political railway system has been bleeding the taxpayers white. He sees in unified control of the two transcontinental railway systems the only way in which the necessary economies will be effected and the taxpayers relieved from an excessive burden.

Both the Duff Commission and the Senate Railway Committee emphasized the need of removing the railway problem from political interference. The report of the former said: "We feel compelled, as a matter of public duty, to strike a serious note of warning to the people of Canada. Unless the country is prepared to adopt the plan we have proposed, or some other equally effective measures, to secure the efficient and economical working of both railway systems, and thereby not only reduce the burden on the Federal Treasury, but improve the financial position of the privately-owned railway, then the only courses that would be left would be either to effect savings in national expenditure in other directions or to add still further to the burdens under which the industries of the country are suffering by the imposition of still further taxation. Failing the adoption of one or other of these courses, and there are obvious limits to their application, the very stability of the nation's finances and the financial credit of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be threatened, with serious consequences to the people of Canada, and to those who have invested their savings in that railway."

In commenting on the situation, The Toronto Globe and Mail says: "Even the Duff Commission did not provide more business for the railways. The danger is graver than at that time. The Government did not reduce expenditures in other directions to offset the railway deficits, it increased expenditure. Industries are suffering under the burden of further taxation. We are riding a merry pace to ruin because the politicians persist in viewing the railway problem and others from the party standpoint. They want votes at any cost to the people. That is why the forthright stand of Senator Meighen, contrary to his party's policy, ranks as a beacon of hope. If he can use his great influence to kick the politicians out of the railway pie a solution for the railways' troubles will be found, whether or not it accords with the Senate's vote."

OURS TO USE

Flying weather tells. Victoria this week became the home base for the inter-city and West Coast service of Canadian Airways, Ltd., operating a thrice daily service between this city and Vancouver, with charter flights to Zeballos and other points on the Lower Coast area. The company is to be congratulated on a decision that will insure to it the maximum amount of clearance at its terminal airport.

Officials of the firm declared that Victoria is originating more than half of the air traffic between this city and Vancouver, and that the three scheduled round trips daily to the Mainland have been fully justified by the business offering. In good times, and when facilities can be provided, Victoria would like to see establishment of the Victoria-Seattle link.

Air traffic is air trade. It is difficult to realize to what extent commercial flying will alter the growth of cities. For a time Seattle, with a head start on her southern competitors, used the air mail link with Victoria, connecting with Trans-Pacific vessels to the full. More recently San Francisco has become the base for land and ocean air terminals now bringing new business to her docks. Slowly, but steadily, Victoria is being linked up with air routes of the continent.

Victoria's future in the air will be the result of the component of clear flying weather, and the degree to which use and profit are made of the new medium of transportation which scoffs at time and sets distances at naught. The public can do its part by using these facilities as they are offered. Flying weather tells, and Victoria is favored with an exceeding high number of flying days per year.

SCOTTISH FOOTBALLERS

The Scottish All-Star football team now touring the continent will play Victoria at the Royal Athletic Park next Wednesday evening, and, judging from all accounts of its skill and prowess, the people of this community have a treat in store. There is no doubt that the recurring visits of soccer teams from the Old Country have done a good deal, not only to encourage public interest in the game, but to improve the calibre of play in Canada. Association football is growing in popularity on the British Columbia Coast. It has more devotees now than at any time in its history in this part of the world. Some at least of the credit for this must go to the touring players from England and Scotland who come here from time to time and give demonstrations of the high pitch of efficiency that players can reach, and moreover exhibitions of what the game does to promote physical fitness. The Scottish All-Stars are an excellent combination, skilled in all points of the game. It is not only soccer enthusiasts, but all interested in sport as practised by foremost exponents, who should make a point of seeing the visitors in action next Wednesday.

TO THE ELIZABETHS

A suggestion has come from Mrs. Elizabeth Burwash, of Noranda, Quebec, that the visit of the Queen to Canada should be commemorated by the establishment of a fund to be subscribed to by the Elizabeths of the Dominion, and to be used "to bring hope and comfort into the lives of our brave pioneer sisters of the 'Back to the Land' projects." She points out that there are wives and mothers "enduring danger, privation and hardship" in the endeavor to build homes and secure an independence for themselves and their families. She asks for a sympathetic hearing for her plan from the women's societies of the Dominion, who, she believes, would gladly wish to honor Her Majesty in this way, and commemorate her visit to these shores. Mrs. Burwash knows pioneer life at first hand. She expresses willingness to give information on her proposal to anyone who would desire to join in raising such a fund.

The Milwaukee Journal records the case of one, Mario Izzo, who was forced to go on relief last Summer. He was dissatisfied with receiving money for nothing, so he started to sweep the streets of the Pittsburg suburb of Aliquippa, and sweeps for six hours a day six days a week. It is voluntary effort, but it is what he gives in return for his relief cheque of $3.60 per week. The reason he gives for working is his desire to be honest, and, since he works for what he gets, he says "his bread tastes sweeter and he feels a man."

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

It would be a great pity if in this country the schools were allowed to become part of the ground over which men will fight in a partizan way for partizan ends. From what one can see, the schools have made sustained efforts to keep free from the bitterness that comes from a conflict of ideas. They have been, as I believe, unfairly attacked, and some of their reasonable authority over the children has thereby been weakened. The home, the child and the school cannot safely be taken piecemeal.

To begin with education is a much larger issue than schooling. Education proceeds throughout a lifetime; comes so largely from experience and from human contacts, and so little from textbooks, that the schools should not be blamed if education is lagging behind mankind. Personally, I do not believe that it is. I think that man is adjusting himself to fresh and unprecedented experiences, with the world in a stage of development it could not have reached at any time before.

Nor am I concerned seriously with what is in the textbooks, beyond that whatever is there be kept reasonably up to date, and given to young minds as man's experimental approach to his own surroundings, about which nothing is final or likely ever will be. Indeed, if the schools develop in children an inquiring mind, in my opinion they will have fulfilled their mission well. Moreover, I think that they do; and that parents who cannot answer home-work questions are an excellent proof of that fact.

* * *

Making all allowances for generous differences of opinion which will occur in every set of human beings, it is unreasonable in man to expect that school will develop his child entirely along his own personal ideas. If that were done, the next man's child would have to be trained along his lines, and so on, until a school with 200 children would require 200 classes and 200 teachers.

* * *

Before I would criticize a school, or even a system of schooling, I would want to sit down and ask myself frankly just how I should go about the same work. It would be plain sailing on things that I know; but how about all the things that I did not know? Moreover, some of the things that I know would be useless to anyone else. Indeed, to be fair about it, my curriculum would be but a lopsided and uneven affair; and I am a tolerably educated individual. So, then, one man's view will not do.

* * *

The animus, and it is often an unfair one, against any particular type of schooling seems to spring from individual disagreement as to what man ought to think or ought to do. We can agree on reading, writing and on arithmetic; but from there on it becomes largely a question of choice. To meet that choice, schools have tried, rightly or wrongly, to arrange courses, each a little different. But no school, and no group of teachers however erudite, can teach a child all that there is for human beings to know.

Some children go to school already well along the road towards an education. Others commence with all ahead of them to be learned. Some are going to work with their hands, artistically. Others, like I am, are thumb-fingered. Some will have minds that incline to neatness, others will work spasmodically, and without pre-arranged order. Some will plan, others will not, and so it goes for every single entity in the great human family.

* * *

I like to think, rather, of the patience, courtesy and sincerely continued efforts of teachers who live up to the highest terms of what is the highest trust that man may repose in any individual. Knowing myself, I will even concede to them an off-day or two, in which they may bark a bit and become momentarily unreasonable, as all of us sometimes do. I like to think of my own teachers, and how little I profited from all the wealth of knowledge and of wisdom that they offered. My respect for a teacher surpasses my respect for a policeman and that has been a lifelong affair.

* * *

If there are faults in schooling, and I have seen but few of them, it is the affair of all men and not of one man. Probably the faults of a school, if run right down to earth, would be nine-tenths the faults of the individual home. What have we taught in those homes? Respect for schooling? Respect for the teacher? Respect for the glorious potentialities of the body, the mind, and even the soul? We could attack the homes far more readily than we could the schools, and with much greater justice. This is, of course, one man's views. Nobody expects you to agree with it.

Permanent Coast Defence Artillery

By MAJOR F. V. LONGSTAFF

(Article III)

The first of a number of Royal Garrison Artillery units arrived in 1899 in the form of 19th Company (Western Division) under Major A. E. C. Myers, at Victoria, on September 29, via the C.P.R. from Halifax. An advance party had arrived on September 22, under Lieutenant V. L. Beer (a former R.M.C. Kingston graduate), to prepare and take over the barracks from the Marines. Major J. G. E. Wynne soon succeeded Major Myers, who went to South Africa.

The 19th Company, under Major Wynne, on December 3, 1901, sailed for Hongkong in the Ss. Empress of China, from Victoria, being the first Imperial troops to use the C.P. mail line. Bermuda provided the second relief in the 21st Company, under Major W. Gurdon, which arrived in Victoria on December 1, 1901. Under the garrison artillery the militia were allowed in the forts for training and even to see the guns fired. In April, 1902, a re-numbering of the companies of R.G.A. took place when they were put on one list instead of three divisions, and the 21st Company, Western, became the 83rd Company on the one roll.

In December, 1903, the third relief of Imperial troops took place, the 83rd Company, under Major Gurdon, embarked at Victoria in Ss. Empress of India, for Hongkong, on Monday, December 28. The next day the 58th Company, under Major C. E. English, arrived from Halifax, during the journey an experiment was tried of using hammocks slung in the cars. Major English was given the local rank of Lieut.-Colonel and thus became commander of the Esquimalt defences. A photograph of this company on parade gives 185 N.C.O.'s and gunners.

SUBMARINE MINES

From June, 1900, until July, 1905, anchored submarine electric mines formed a part of the local defences, and this work was in charge of the 48th Company Royal Engineers from Chatham. This company was under command of Captain B. W. B. Bowdler, and then Captain D. Brady, who took it back to England in June, 1906.

The agreement between the British and Canadian Governments provided for the transfer of the sea defences of Esquimalt and Halifax to take place in 1905. In the case of Esquimalt this was postponed until 1906 at the request of the Dominion in order to organize and recruit a new company of Canadian Garrison Artillery, and detachments of Canadian engineers, medical corps, ordnance corps, etc. While the Imperial officers, under Lieut.-Colonel C. E. English, had only to administer the garrison of the forts, yet when Colonel J. G. Holmes, Royal Canadian Artillery, the third district officer commanding, took over command of the garrison, he had also work of administering the active militia all over the province.

In 1906 the Imperial Garrison consisted of 14 officers, 350 N.C.O.'s and men. Of this number, a rear party of six N.C.O.'s and sappers of the 48th Company, R.E., was left behind by the main body, and the following officers remained to transfer to the Dominion service: Lieut.-Col. English, Captain R. L. Muspratt-Williams, and Lieut. P. Elliston; while 34 N.C.O.'s and gunners transferred to the artillery, and 31 N.C.O.'s and sappers to the engineers of the Dominion. The forts were handed over complete with guns, ammunition, instruments and register books to Lieut. P. Elliston and Sergeant-Major A. Mulcahy, representing Colonel J. G. Holmes.

PRESENTATION TO COLONEL

At a public meeting in the Menzies Street Drill Hall, on May 9, 1906, Mayor A. J. Morley presented to Colonel English a large silver cup from the citizens, and it found a home in the United Service Club, London.

The main body of the Imperial troops left Victoria on Thursday, May 17, at 8 a.m., on Ss. Charmer, and Lieut.-Colonel R. Wolfenden, the senior retired militia officer in B.C., and an old sapper of 1859-63, was among the spectators. The troops were commanded by Major E. H. Bland, R.E., who took them to England. The mounting of the two 9.2-inch guns on Signal Hill was left by the Imperials to the Canadian artillery to carry out, which was eventually done under the direction of Captain W. B. Anderson, R.C.A.

Owing to the Imperial units only spending a few years at each station they were able to maintain a high standard of contentment, efficiency and keenness in coast defence gunnery.

Let us consider the educational standard of the Imperial gunners who did a tour of duty at Esquimalt. It is certain that when accepted as recruits most of them would not have reached the Canadian grade eight, let alone grade ten. Yet under the Army schoolmasters they worked their way through the third and second to the first-class educational certificate during their Army service, thus qualifying themselves for the highest non-commissioned and warrant ranks and becoming instructors second to none. Some of these raw recruits even worked their way to combatant commissions. Here is another good reason for reducing the Canadian educational standard for recruits from grade ten to grade eight.

A LONG JOB

The first officer called a deckhand to him and said: "Go below and break up that poker game."

The sailor was away for the better part of an hour. When he returned the officer barked: "Did you break up that game?"

"Yes, sir," said the sailor.

"What in thunder took you so long?" demanded the officer.

"Well, sir," the sailor replied, "I had only three pence to start with."

Praises Bluecoats

Police deserve great credit for the almost total absence of crime during the entire three days of the Royal visit. The guardians of law and order seldom receive praise for their arduous duties . . . An item in a trade paper stated that dance band leaders were finding difficulty in securing crooners. Perhaps they are not finding it difficult enough to suit some of the audience . . . Not long ago Bill, the Broad Street barber, was invited to scud over the briny deep in a small sailing craft. Half an hour out of Cadboro Bay, Willie noticed a strange feeling in his stomach. Turning to the skipper, he moaned: "Let's turn back. After you have seen one wave you have seen them all" . . . Broad Street Bertie has come to the conclusion that if you pet your troubles too much they will stick to you . . . Our tobacconist friend believes it most unfair that women have all the equal rights . . . Salesman Horace thinks it is silly to expect the worst. It will happen anyway without you punishing yourself by dreading it for so long.—G.B.

Memories of Home

There was a definite note of regret in the voice of Her Majesty as she said "good-bye" at Government House on Wednesday morning. Both she and His Majesty were quite emotionally impressed with the beauty of Victoria and specially commented upon the scenery of the surrounding districts which they had an opportunity of seeing during an unscheduled and informal drive on Tuesday afternoon. Her Majesty said that "Victoria brought back memories of places in Scotland and England which we know so well."—B.H.B.-W.

Proud Bonnets

The scores of thousands who saw the Highlanders on parade during the visit of Their Majesties to Victoria may not have realized that the feather bonnets and full dress uniforms which made such an imposing display were those originally worn by Victoria's 50th Gordons, the original Highland regiment raised here in pre-war days and commanded by General Sir Arthur Currie. The uniforms were presented by the late General Coy, and created quite a sensation when they appeared for the first time, and are still the object of tremendous admiration. Although it is more than twenty-five years since they were first used, they are spick and span almost as the day when first worn, as they are only donned once or twice a year when the regiment furnishes a guard, and between times are given most careful storage. Should no misadventure happen, they should last for another thirty or forty years.—J.E.M.B.

Somebody's Wrong!

Many Victoria citizens have complained because there were not more American visitors here at the time of Their Majesties' stay. A story in one Seattle newspaper does not seem to agree with this opinion, judging from one paragraph as follows: "There were so many Americans, especially children, that the words of 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee' were clearly intelligible over those of 'God Save the King,' as the crowd joined in the chorus." The Sound City paper apparently got off on the wrong foot in another story when they said the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerr, Seattle, was presented to King George VI. The little chap has resided in Victoria, with his parents, the full three years of his life.—W.I.F.

War Veteran of Salt Spring Dies

VANCOUVER, June 2 (CP).—The body of Lieut. James Murdock Christie, seventy-two-year-old war veteran of Ganges Harbor, Salt Spring Island, will be returned there for burial on Monday. Christie, a native of Scotland, who was a sniper with the Princess Pats Regiment during the war, died Thursday.

Before the war he made a record for himself as a big game hunter in Northern British Columbia and the Yukon Territory.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of the water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock add 18.9 feet.

ROYAL VISIT ARRANGEMENTS

Sir,—Surely your second article in today's paper is headed wrongly, and should read: "A Matter of Censure," not "Praise."

Do you realize that the most important citizens (future though they be) were most disgracefully herded into enclosures unfit for them to sit on from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., without even a glimpse of Their Majesties?

I am referring to the hundreds of children from all points Up-Island who were advised to go by train and that every provision was being made for them in Beacon Hill Park.

Do you realize that the Girl Guides and Brownies, some under eight years old, were similarly treated, and many of these little ones, who had traveled since 4 a.m., did not see anything but the backs of our sailors? Do you realize that several fainted? Do you realize that Victoria school children were lined up in suitable places and positions on the sidewalks and obtained a perfect view of Their Majesties and were able to show their loyalty as subjects with Union Jacks issued to them, and that there was room for many more thousands? Did you hear them insistently shouting, "We want the King," "We want the Queen"? I did.

Do you realize the great harm that has been done? What will loyalty and service mean to them when they had come to give it? They feel they were put on one side as of no consequence and overlooked.

Do you realize those children, when they grow up, will not remember Their Majesties' gracious smile, but will remember how they were treated? Do you realize what all their parents and friends are saying from one end of the Island to the other? Disgraceful treatment.

Sir, a general in any army who, through his orders, makes a colossal blunder in war and loses the lives of his men is not only censured but replaced. Someone has blundered.

In conclusion, I may say I saw Their Majesties; I saw the Victoria school children; I saw the children from Beacon Hill; I heard them; I was lining the streets. I am an ex-Service man. I know it is true.

H. W. COLLINGS.

Cliffside, B.C., June 1, 1939.

"THE ENGLISH PLAYERS"

Sir,—Will you be gracious enough to permit me to make the following remarks in the interests of public-spiritedness?

As a visitor to your beautiful city, I am, naturally, taking in everything of interest. Last night I visited the Chamber of Commerce Building and witnessed a performance given by a group of people styling themselves "The English Players," and I want to say right now that it was as fine a little show of its type as I have seen in a long time. Clean, wholesome entertainment, every member doing his or her bit and doing it well, despite the heart-breaking circumstances, viz., a practically empty house (there were twelve of us, but what we lacked in numbers we made up in enthusiasm). Perhaps it was due to insufficient advertisement—I cannot say.

Anyway, all I can say is that to those of us who remember the "old songs" in the "old days," in the "Old Land," it was a real treat, and I take off my hat to a very brave little bunch of people, who put on their show in spite of disheartening circumstances. They certainly proved their spirit of true British sportsmanship. More power to them!

M. PATRICIA FLINT (Ex-Professional).

ROYAL VISIT ARRANGEMENTS

Sir,—Who was it failed the children of Vancouver Island on Tuesday, May 30?

Who was it conceived the idea of placing children in cattle pens, on flat ground, under a broiling sun, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., without even making arrangements for feeding, watering and amusing them?

Who had the lack of imagination to think that these children, many of whom had risen at dawn and traveled by many devious means, could possibly see their King and Queen through two ranks of stalwart bluejackets bristling with bayonets?

Those listening to this triumphant and epoch-making tour across our vast continent have heard with delight the fresh young voices of Canada's children, acclaiming the children's King and Queen.

Why were the voices of Vancouver Island's children silent?

Who, I ask, was responsible for this, the most crass and unnecessarily cruel piece of staff work on a brilliant tour?

Don't tell me it was the interdepartmental committee. It was someone nearer home.

HUBERT O. BUTLER, Captain.

93 Beach Drive, Victoria, B.C., June 1, 1939.

CHILDREN'S DISAPPOINTMENT

Sir,—May I express my regret that the authorities concerned did not make adequate provision for Up-Island children to see their King and Queen.

Many of them came home after hours spent in a "corral," as one writer so aptly described it, bitterly disappointed and disgusted that they had been let down so badly. A gracious King and Queen, the living symbols of our Empire, have been amongst us, and the rising generation, on whom so much depends, through no fault of theirs, failed to see them.

H. T. COLLISON.

Cobble Hill, B.C., June 2, 1938.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHPLACE

Sir,—Apropos of Mr. Shaw's letter in your issue today on geographical ignorance in the C.B.C., a glaring instance of historical ignorance (only one of many) came two days ago when a Vancouver announcer, describing the meeting of the Queen in Victoria with her compatriots from Angus, stated unnecessarily and erroneously that the Queen was born in Scotland.

One might think, in the recent blaze of publicity on the Sovereigns, that no person of even ordinary intelligence could escape noticing the fact that the Queen, though Scottish, was born in England. This reporter thought he knew better. For his edification, it may be mentioned that her eldest daughter was also born in England. The third lady of the land, Princess Margaret Rose, is the only one of the three who was born in Scotland. She first saw the light at Glamis, the home of her ancestors.

Could not some test of knowledge and intelligence be instituted for announcers? Nothing elaborate, but simply enough to assure average or ordinary competence. At present their qualifications are hard to seek. Why should the public have to submit to be fed so much inaccuracy? Not to mention mispronunciation. I am voicing complaints to be heard everywhere.

W. D. MUNRO.

2855 Colquitz Avenue, Saanich, B.C., June 2, 1939.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of June 3, 1889)

Typographical Union—At a regular meeting of Victoria Typographical Union, No. 201, held on Sunday at Forester's Hall, the following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing year: President, J. J. Shinabarger; vice-president, Harry Howard; secretary, F. A. Campbell; treasurer, George Wilby; sergeant-at-arms, Fred Shakespeare; executive committee, Bert F. Nye, D. M. Carley and William Wilson.

School Examinations—Seventy-seven pupils are being examined at the High School in all the subjects of the curriculum and the examination will continue during the whole of the present week. The promotion examinations of the graded and ward schools will begin in the course of a few days. These half-yearly inquiries into the progress made by pupils have the two-fold effect of inducing careful and constant work on the part of both teacher and student.

Quamichan Tennis Club—Over fifty people were present for the opening of the Quamichan Lawn Tennis Club on Saturday. The courts have been greatly improved, a new one being opened this year. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. Pimbury and play was kept up until a late hour. A very successful photograph of the club was taken by Mr. Matthew.

CITY TEACHER TO TOUR JAPAN

Miss Anne W. Eaton to Be Member of North America Party

Word has been received from Vancouver that Miss Anne W. Eaton, Victoria High School mathematics teacher, has been selected as one of Canada's four representatives in a party of North American teachers who will tour Japan this Summer as the guests of the Board of Tourist Industry of the Japanese Government Railways.

Other Canadian delegates are Miss Doris Laverock, Grandview High School, Vancouver; Miss Margery O. Scott, Richmond High School, Vancouver, and Mrs. A. E. H. Gilley, Duke of Connaught High School, New Westminster.

Similar tours have been carried out under the direction of the Japanese Tourist Board since 1936, and each year about twenty-five teachers from the United States and Canada have made the trip. Expenses are provided by the Japanese board and by Japanese communities on this side of the Pacific. Teachers are chosen from districts where there are Japanese communities.

Restore Park Turf

Restoration of the turf at Central Park after use by the circus will be completed within two weeks, according to Alderman S. H. Okell, chairman of the City Council parks committee. He stated that the damage was not as serious as reported, and that the question of allowing use of the park had been discussed by the full City Council.

Leading Albertans Are Presented in Edmonton

Their Majesties Welcomed by Premier Aberhart In Legislative Chambers—Visitors Sign Book After King and Queen

EDMONTON, June 2 (CP).—Within the white-pillared Legislative Chambers of Alberta, Social Credit Premier Aberhart today welcomed the King and Queen. As Their Majesties entered the Chamber, Mr. Aberhart presented the Speaker of the House, Hon. Peter Dawson, and his wife, who had been standing in front of the Speaker's dais.

Their Majesties then advanced towards the Speaker's chair and the Premier asked Their Majesties' permission to present "leading and loyal citizens of Alberta." On the newly-decorated walls hung new portraits of Their Majesties.

THOSE PRESENTED

Those presented to Their Majesties included four clerical representatives, Archbishop H. J. MacDonald, Catholic; Bishop A. E. Burgett, Anglican; Rev. T. A. Rodger, Moderator of the Alberta Presbytery, Presbyterian, Rev. R. W. Dalgleish, president of the conference, United Church of Canada; Rev. W. C. Smalley, general secretary, Baptist. Chief Justice Harvey and Mrs. Harvey, and Chief Justice Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell were presented, as also were the members of the Alberta Government, the judges of the Alberta courts, and Mrs. H. C. Ironside, Calgary, president of the Overseas Nursing Sisters' Association of Canada.

Mr. Speaker Dawson presented the private members of the Legislature, nearly fifty of whom are Social Crediters, and their wives. Then Mayor J. W. Fry presented the members of Edmonton City Council and their wives.

The Queen stopped Bishop Burgett for a few words, and also talked to Mrs. Ironside. In all, 175 persons were presented.

SIGN REGISTER

After the presentations, Mr. Aberhart asked Their Majesties to sign the register before leaving the chamber. It was on a small table brought in as the presentation neared the end. The King walked over and signed it before a chair could be brought. The clerk, Robert Andison, carried up a chair when the Queen was ready to sign, but Her Majesty stood up also.

The King and Queen left the room to the cheers of the galleries and those who had been presented—the Queen first, with the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. J. C. Bowen, and the King with Mrs. Bowen.

While Their Majesties were signing the register Premier Aberhart stood by smiling benevolently. The King and Queen had an extended chat with him afterwards.

After the King and Queen signed the elaborately bound book, everyone presented signed. The book will be put in the province's archives.

FIRE DEPARTMENT EXECUTES DRILL

Directed by Fire Chief Alex Munroe, Deputy Chief Joseph Raymond, Captain J. Russell and Lieutenant W. Crowther, city firemen gave a demonstration in market square between 10.30 o'clock and noon yesterday, witnessed by fire wardens and a large number of spectators.

In the first evolution crews raced up the hose tower with chain and single pompier "scaling" ladders. Then followed an aerial ladder demonstration, rope sliding and rescue work, pole extension ladder drill, smoke mask all service and dummy carrying, smoke air hose and two-man carrying, resuscitation and inhalation drill and the firemen's lift.

Laying lines and coupling exercises, company ladder and hose drill, and suction connection drill were carried out by the hose company.

Wet drill, laying hose lines from hydrants and pumps, and the use of the aerial and a fifty-foot extension ladder completed the second evolution.

Evolution three featured heavy streams drill using the aerial tower, deck set and deluge set. Cellar nozzles and an aerial demonstration formed the fourth evolution. As a finale, the department showed its skill in net jumping and net and bail drill.

"Why not have a hot drink?"

"Daren't! We've never seen one another—it's all been done by writing, and I told her she'd recognize me because I'd be eating ice cream!"

Robin Makes Her Nest in Plane; Pilot Uses Machine

Vacates Home When Birdman Takes Off, But Hops In Again When He Lands—Engine Keeps Eggs Warm When in Flight

LONDON, June 2 (CP).—The Times was moved to editorial rapture today by the Amersham robin who built her nest in an airplane and produced six eggs.

The stubborn bird defied airport attendants in the Bucks County town of Amersham who repeatedly demolished the nest. She rebuilt it each time until the attendant gave up and let the robin have her own way.

The fact that Percy Horden, the plane's owner, frequently uses the machine, appears not to disturb the bird at all. She vacates the nest when the plane takes off, but remains on hand to pounce on the eggs as soon as it returns.

Horden believes the flights will not harm the eggs, as the robin was clever enough to build the nest right behind the engine, which keeps the eggs warm when the machine is in the air.

IN TUNE WITH TIMES

Said The Times:

"The latest development (in nesting habits) was inevitable. It became so when some ancient Briton in an access of sentiment failed to evict a robin which had nested in his (Arrow) quiver.

"From that moment (or one most like it), it could have been foreseen that as fast as man invented things, robins would nest in them if it was at all possible.

"The choice of an airplane is even a little tardy. There is, however, nothing old-fashioned about a robin who has made that choice.

"She went about building her nest with pertinacity, ignoring its repeated demolition by people who failed to realize she was interested in publicity first and procreation second."

Former Resident Called by Death

Word was received here yesterday of the death, on May 25, of David Curtis, seventy-four, former resident of Victoria, at Huntington Park, California. Interment was made at Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Curtis resided here for some years near the beginning of the century, after which he lived for a time in Seattle. For the last twenty years he has resided in California.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Louis M. Corke, Victoria, one sister, Mrs. H. K. Prior, Victoria, and a brother, Thomas Curtis, of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba.

A FALSE RUMOR

Tramp—I've walked many miles to see you, sir, because people told me that you were very kind to poor chaps like me.

Householder—Oh, they said so, did they?

Tramp—Yes, sir; that's why I came.

Householder—Are you going back the same way?

Tramp—Yes, sir.

Householder—Then in that case will you be good enough to contradict this rumor?

DUMB

"Here, boy," said a fussy man to a sleepy-looking lad who was lounging at the entrance to a large boarding-house, "where does Mr. Smythe live?"

"I'll show you, sir," said the lad, and he started to climb the stairs. Up six flights he went, with the visitor following breathlessly. Finally he paused at an open door.

"This is where Mr. Smythe lives," he announced.

"He doesn't seem to be home," remarked the visitor, peering into the room.

"No," replied the boy. "He was standing at the entrance as we came in!"

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

Housewife (to grocer): "Good morning, Mr. Jones. Please send me out one three-pound can of porterhouse steak, medium, a two-pound can of mashed potatoes, two cans of fresh, crisp celery sprouts, five small cans of noiseless tomato soup, one can of ripe olives, two cans of fresh asparagus tips, five cans of incidental side dishes and four cans of fresh apple pie, cut. And, by the way, Mr. Jones, please include in this order one new can opener. The last one you sent me is about worn out."

Committee Moves To New Location

On Thursday the Committee for Medical Aid for China moved to its new headquarters at 617 Broughton Street. The present location is more central, and the committee has expressed hoped that this will result in a larger supply of linen being received.

The loan of a table to accommodate more workers at the headquarters would be appreciated by the committee, it was stated yesterday.

A field report received recently implores interested friends to send blankets to "make sure that China's wounded do not freeze to death." If any persons are willing to donate blankets for this purpose, the committee will pay the freight.

Old Plan Will Be Brought to Date

VANCOUVER, June 2 (CP).—A ten-year-old plan for long-term development of False Creek, an arm of English Bay which juts into the centre of Vancouver, by reclamation of the waterway with the exception of a 600-foot shipping canal and marine turning basin, was brought before a special City Council committee today.

The committee instructed City Engineer Charles Brackenridge and J. Alexander, engineer-secretary of the Town Planning Commission, to bring up to date the plan originally submitted in 1929.

QUICK WORK

An American in a railway carriage had been drawing the long bow for some time, and remarked: "Over there, we can start a twelve-story hotel one month and have it finished by the next."

This was too much for the burly Yorkshireman who sat next to him.

"Man, that's nowt," he replied. "I've seen 'em in Yorkshire when I've been going to work, just laying the foundation stone, an' when I've been coming home at night they've been puttin' tenants out for back rent!"

AT LONG LAST

A lady entered the railway compartment and seated herself by the side of a salesman. After a while the traveler said politely: "Excuse me, ma'am, but—"

"If you speak or annoy me, I'll pull the communication cord," snapped the lady.

Whenever he attempted to speak the lady threatened to give the alarm. At last the train slowed up at a station and the traveler rose to his feet.

"I don't care whether you like it or not," he said, "but I want that bag of strawberries you've been sitting on for the last six miles."

WHY HE ASKED

Tony, an Italian, was having his second son christened and being very anxious to have the child's name recorded properly, said to the vicar:

"Will you please nama ma baby name as I tell you?"

"Why, of course I will," replied the vicar. "Why do you ask?"

"Well, ya see, it's like dis. My first boy I say I want christened Tommy, and you put Thomas for him. Now I want dis boy named Jack, and don't wanta him nama Jackass."

TRY NEXT DOOR

All down one street he went without making a sale. He determined to try a new method. At the next house a grumpy woman answered the knock.

"Have you a Charles Dickens in your home?" he asked politely.

"No," snapped the woman.

"Or a Robert Louis Stevenson?"

"No."

"Or a Walter Scott?" continued the canvasser, hope dawning in his eyes.

"No, we ain't," said the woman, sharply. "And, what's more, I don't take in lodgers. Try next door; they do."

QUITE GENERAL

The wife arrived home breathlessly after a day of shopping. "Look, darling," she said to her husband happily. "I've got one of those new hats without a crown and a dress without a back and shoes without toe-caps."

"Well, what about it?" grunted her husband. "Look at this new suit of mine. It has pockets without money!"

Little Stories for Bedtime

Unc' Billy and Jimmy Skunk Meet Again

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Unc' Billy stopped right where he was.

Jimmy Skunk couldn't think of anything but eggs. The more he thought of them the more he wanted some. After he parted from Unc' Billy Possum in the Green Forest he went back to the Green Meadows and prowled about hunting for the nests of his feathered neighbors who build on the ground, but had no more luck than he had had before.

Unc' Billy Possum was faring about the same way. He couldn't for the life of him stop thinking about those eggs that belonged to Mrs. Grouse. The more he tried to forget about them the more he thought about them.

"Ah feels it in mah bones that there isn't the least bit of use huntin' fo' them," said he to himself, as he watched Jimmy Skunk amble out of sight up the Lone Little Path. "No, sah, there isn't the least bit of use. Ah done look every place Ah can think of already. Still Ah haven't got anything else special on mah mind and those aiggs cert'nly would taste good. Ah reckons it must be Ah needs those aiggs or Ah wouldn't have them on mah mind so much. Ah finds it rather painful to carry aiggs on mah mind all the time, but Ah would enjoy carrying them in mah stomach. Ah cert'nly would."

Unc' Billy grinned and started to ramble about aimlessly, hoping that chance would lead him to the nest of Mrs. Grouse.

Chance did lead him there, but he didn't know it. It was rather a joke on Unc' Billy. He walked right past within three feet of where Mrs. Grouse was sitting on her eggs at the foot of a big tree. She didn't move so much as a feather and she looked so much like the brown leaves on the ground about her that Unc' Billy didn' see her at all.

Do what he would Unc' Billy couldn't get the thought of eggs off his mind, and the more he thought about them the more he wanted some. And that led him to think of Farmer Brown's henhouse. He had long ago resolved never again to go there, but the longing for a taste of eggs was too much for his good resolutions, and as soon as jolly, round, red Mr. Sun sank to rest behind the Purple Hills and the Black Shadows came creeping across the Green Meadows and through the Green Forest Unc' Billy slipped away, taking pains that old Mrs. Possum shouldn't suspect where he was going.

Out from the Green Forest, keeping among the Black Shadows, along by the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard he stole and so at last he reached Farmer Brown's henhouse. He stopped to listen. There was no sign of Bowser the Hound and Unc' Billy sighed gently. It was a sigh of relief. Then he crept around a corner of the henhouse toward a certain hole under it he remembered well. Just as he reached it he saw something white. It moved. It was coming toward him from the other side of the henhouse. Unc' Billy stopped right where he was. He was undecided whether to run or stay. Then he heard a little grunt and decided to stay. He even grinned. A few seconds later up came Jimmy Skunk. It was the white stripe on Jimmy's coat that Unc' Billy had seen.

Jimmy gave a little snort of surprise when he almost bumped into Unc' Billy.

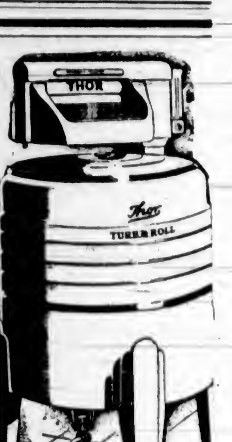

"What are you doing here," he demanded.

"Just taking a lil walk fo' the good of mah appetite," replied Unc' Billy, grinning more broadly than ever. "What are yo' doing here, Br'er Skunk?"

"The same thing," replied Jimmy. Then he chuckled. "This is an unexpected meeting. I guess you must have had the same thing on your mind all day that I had on mine," he added.

"Ah reckon so," replied Unc' Billy and both grinned.

Queen Wears Lovely Gown In Edmonton

EDMONTON, June 2 (CP).—Queen Elizabeth made her first appearance in a week in formal evening dress tonight when she left the Royal train here to attend the dinner given by the Alberta Goverment.

Because of the warmth of the day, Her Majesty dressed in flowing gold-spangled white chiffon, the wide, full skirts banded at the hem with inch-wide gold metallic braid, and the bodice and skirt shimmering with coin-dots in gold. A tiny shoulder capelet of ermine, gold shoes, and a small diamond tiara completed her costume.

Since Their Majesties left Regina a week ago there have been no formal evening functions on their engagement book. They have dined informally at Banff and Jasper, and at Government House in Victoria, when the Queen was host, seen by this paper.

It is hoped that all club girls, their friends, and any visitors will feel free to join these outings. In anticipation of some overnight hikes, a course will be given in camp craft, including how to build the various types of fires, how to lay trails, and something on first aid. All girls interested in this course are asked to attend on Monday evening. An attractive folder outlining these events in detail may be secured at the office of the Y.W.C.A. on request.

"Have you formed or expressed any opinion?"

Is Returning to Hollywood

MRS. W. LLOYD MORGAN

WIFE of Alderman Morgan, who arrived from Hollywood a short time ago for a brief visit to her home here, and was presented to Their Majesties the King and Queen at the reception held in the City Hall on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Morgan wore a gown of garden rose triple crepe with a deep lace collar, a blue coat and a picture hat of rose straw trimmed with blue forget-me-nots. She expects to return to Hollywood at the end of next week.

Wedding Is Celebrated At Cathedral

Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, solemnized the marriage of Dorothy Jane, eldest daughter of Major D. A. McNaughton, James Island, and Mr. Bradfield Gilbert Howland, eldest son of Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. G. Howland, 32 Dallas Avenue, which took place last evening in Christ Church Cathedral at 8:30 o'clock. The organist was in attendance.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length frock of white lace over satin, with a slight train and a long-sleeved jacket. Her veil of silk-embroidered net formed a longer train, and was caught to her head by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids were sisters of the bride and groom. Miss Audrey McNaughton was in pale green sheer over taffeta, and Miss Violet Howland in pale mauve. The floor-length frocks had elbow sleeves and full skirts, and were trimmed with bands of velvet in a deeper shade to the sheer, and were worn with shepherdess hats of matching organdy, with crowns of lily of the valley and waist-length veils of tulle. They carried Colonial bouquets of blending flowers. Mr. Christopher Howland supported his brother, and Mr. Ronald Fairclough was usher.

A reception was held later in the Duke of Kent dining-room in the Empress Hotel, where a buffet supper was served from a flower-bedecked table centred with the wedding cake. After a honeymoon trip to Vancouver Mr. and Mrs. Howland will return via Nanaimo and make their home in Victoria. The bride left in a grey tailored suit with Mayflower lilac accessories.

Mrs. Howland was a member of the 1937 class of the Royal Jubilee Hospital training school.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. W. Barr, Miss W. N. Tucker, Mrs. J. B. Ellis and Mrs. A. Lord, all from Vancouver.

Yacht Club Is Scene of Jolly Dance

The annual flannel dance held by the Alumnae of the Royal Jubilee Hospital last night at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, proved to be a great success, and was attended by 250 guests, including a large number of Victoria doctors and their wives, as well as members of the board of directors of the hospital. A popular orchestra played the dance music from 9 until 2 o'clock, and the ballroom and veranda were beautifully decorated with flags and colored streamers in shades of red, white and blue. The same color scheme was carried out in the decorations and flowers on the supper tables. Balloons and serpentine in similar colors were distributed during the dance, adding to the gaiety of the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Winslow were patrons of the affair, and the committee in charge of the dance arrangements included Miss M. Dickson, Mrs. M. McConnell, Miss B. Lind, Miss G. Montague, Miss H. Jack and Miss M. Plunkett. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. J. H. Russell, the alumnae president, and Mrs. R. Hawkes, convener of the social committee.

During intermissions in the programme Miss Honor Benson and Mr. Dudley Wickett delighted the guests with duets: "Sympathy," with Mr. L. Acres as accompanist, and "The Funny Old Hills," which was sung to the orchestra's accompaniment. Three members of the Russian Ballet School appeared in dance numbers. Miss Wynne Shaw, wearing a chic red, white and blue costume, gave a tap dance to the tune of "Alexander's Ragtime Band"; Miss Geraldine Paterson in a black satin and sequin costume, contributed an acrobatic adagio; and Miss Myra Batchelor and Miss Geraldine Paterson, in striking Spanish costumes of shrimp-colored brocaded silk with cherry velvet boleros, danced the "Pasadobla."

Permitted to Keep Queen's Handkerchief

OTTAWA, June 2 (CP) — Nine-year-old Dickie Braden, of Ottawa, has received permission from the Queen to keep a chiffon handkerchief which Her Majesty dropped while driving along the driveway during the Royal visit here.

Dickie picked up the handkerchief after the car passed and wrote to Lady Katherine Seymour asking the Queen's lady in waiting if Her Majesty wished it returned.

A letter was received from Lady Katherine saying that "by command of the Queen" she had been instructed to tell Dickie he could keep the handkerchief as a souvenir. The boy plans to have it framed and hung in his bedroom.

ONE DARK NIGHT

A city man on the way to his week-end cottage one Saturday night suddenly discovered that he had run out of petrol. While he was wondering how far away was the nearest garage or petrol pump, a man on a bicycle passed and offered to fetch some petrol from the village.

On his return the driver of the car thanked him, and remarked: "I am Sir James Davies, Knight of the Garter and Knight of the Bath. What is your name, my man?"

"My name, sir," answered the other, "is Michael Murphy, last night, tonight, tomorrow night and every other night."

JANITOR FOILS BANK ROBBERS

They asked Mr. Bichard who would open the vault, and offered him $60 if he would say nothing about them. He was commanded to lie down on the floor. The thugs threw him the door mat to lie on.

DISCUSS VISIT

While waiting for Giles Smith, the ledger-keeper, to arrive, the robbers discussed the recent Royal visit with the janitor. He informed them he was a married man with a family dependent upon his salary. The thugs did not attempt to tamper with the vault.

At 8.20 o'clock Mr. Smith arrived and tried the front door. He found that it had been fastened on the inside.

"Can't he get in?" one of the bandits asked. "It doesn't look like it," Mr. Bichard replied.

He was ordered to unfasten the door and admit Mr. Smith. One of the thugs stood at the entry to the manager's office with a pistol levelled at the main entrance.

With commendable courage, knowing that at least one revolver was pointing at his back, Mr. Bichard shouted to Mr. Smith, "Get out of here, quick. Robbery." Quick as a flash the janitor sped through the partly opened door and ran to Burley's Home Bakery at 2500 Douglas Street, where he and the ledger-keeper telephoned the police.

ENTRY BY WINDOW

Detectives David Donaldson and William Stark, accompanied by Constables Arthur Rudge and Harry Mercer, raced to the bank. They found the thugs had disappeared on Bay Street in the direction of Government Street. Entry had been gained to the premises by smashing the glass in the top half of a large window.

Mr. Newmarch, the manager, paid high tribute to the courage of Mr. Bichard in warning Mr. Smith and escaping from the bank.

TROOPS REPORTED IN MAJOR BATTLE

After the blast at Jerusalem's Jaffa Gate, Arabs stoned Jewish traffic in the Arab-Jewish quarter, and then authorities suspended three Arab urban bus lines. Seven Jewish bus lines already had been suspended.

GUARDS DOUBLED

Guards about all public buildings were doubled and the public services were watched carefully.

The Jerusalem Community Council issued a manifesto to Jews proclaiming regret and horror over the death of innocent persons in Jerusalem and demanding restraint of all Jews in their battle against the new British policy for an independent Palestine state with Jews in a minority.

troduction of discipline and control by making the dole dependent on acceptance of training, subject to reasonable safeguards of appeal.

Creation of work centres is now in progress to deal with the small fractions of incorrigible work-shy. Local authorities have been invited to co-operate in this phase of the problem.

The report, however, emphasizes that the chief task is to provide employment opportunities to the great majority willing to work but unable to get it.

Annual Tea Is Arranged By Students

Demonstrations of the great variety of activities being carried on by the students of the Victoria Normal School were of great interest to the 200 guests who attended the annual tea and exhibition of Normal School work yesterday afternoon. Tea was served from 3 to 4 o'clock and again from 5 to 6 p.m., the programme being arranged to take place in the interval.

It opened with part songs under the direction of Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, the whole school singing "Boating Song" (Ely) and "Shepherd's Dance" (German). Then followed a demonstration of physical education activities, the department of which Miss James is director, including Grades I, II and III of the model school, and Miss Bescoby's pupils of Grades IV, V and VI. The children looked very smart in their blue and white uniforms and gave a creditable performance.

The choral reading department directed by Mrs. Reese-Burns, provided one of the interesting features of the programme. Twenty-five students of the men's class taking part in the choral reading of "Drake's Drum." The women's class also gave a choral reading of "The Old Clock on the Stairs" (Longfellow).

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Miss Hinton's department gave a display of corrective exercises and also of Russian dances, and later in the programme the physical education of the men students was exemplified by a well-trained class directed by Sergeant Linsley. The students showed splendid form and fitness, and their display was enthusiastically applauded.

During the first tea hour Miss Sceats gave violin solos, and during the second interval Mr. Horrocks was the soloist. A display of art work attracted much interest, and a puppet show, "Ferdinand the Bull," demonstrated a branch of study which is growing increasingly popular.

The whole school gave a second group of songs, "Even Bravest Heart" (Gounod) and "Viking Song" (Coleridge Taylor), these also being under Mr. Wickett's direction.

THE ONLY WAY

"Can I lead a good Christian life in New York on fifteen dollars a week?" a young man asked a well-known clergyman.

"My boy," was the reply, "that's all you can do."

DESIGN X-212

A recent crochet competition it was difficult for the judges to select the most outstanding article in the tablecloth group. The attractive patterns vied with one another, as did the materials from which they were crocheted. Imported linens as well as domestic threads create exquisite cloths. The medallion illustrated today is a new one, and one which will find instant favor among the crochet workers who are avid tablecloth makers.

SEES FIELD FOR YOUNG ENDEAVOR

Captain Elmore Philpott Says Only Solution for World Problems Lies in Christianity

An appeal to young people to take up the torch, and carry on in building a new Christian world order, was made by Captain Elmore Philpott, in an address given in the Metropolitan United Church schoolroom last night, under the sponsorship of the Victoria Amsterdam Conference committee, to raise funds to send Harry Renfrey, of Emmanuel Baptist Church, to the World's Conference of Christian Youth in Amsterdam this Summer.

Speaking on the subject, "This Changing World," Captain Philpott decired that it was in the power of young people, to some extent, to control the changes in the coming generation, and it would entail intelligent planning and action if the most desirable changes were to be accomplished.

SERMON ON MOUNT

"Young people the world over must recognize that the solution for all the world's problems is contained in the Sermon on the Mount," the speaker said. "It is their task to take control of the governments of the world when their time comes, and to put the principles on which Christianity was founded into practice in every phase of men's relationships with one another."

Captain Philpott concluded by saying that, though the task in the future would be harder than that which had been faced by any generation in the past, it must, nevertheless, be attempted. He declared that the Amsterdam Conference was simply the first step that young people of all the churches were taking in attempting to find what were the immediate goals to be striven for in the quest for a better world.

The entertainment programme included songs by Miss Bessie Hope, Miss Catherine Dennison and Wilfred Demers. The accompanists were Miss Vera Lyster and John Richardson.

Monthly Meeting Of Welsh Society Held Last Night

The June meeting of the Victoria Welsh Society was held last night in the Sons of England Hall, Broad Street. David Evans was in the chair.

Rev. T. G. Griffiths gave an interesting talk on "The Good Old Days," quoting from literature of one and two hundred years ago to show the difference between factory conditions of that time and today.

A group of songs, "The Little Damsel," "Fiddle and I" and "Child's Prayer," were rendered by Mrs. Cornelius. Miss Glenys Jones was heard in two recitations, and W. Farmer sang "The Singing Skeicher." Miss Gestiana Evans was the accompanist.

The chairman announced that the annual picnic would take place on July 1. The location will be determined later.

One of the topics of study will be Youth Calling to Youth in which an attempt will be made to point the Christian approach to the problems of the present age.

Majesty of Lord to Be Text Theme

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The golden text is "The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is established, that it cannot be moved" (Psalms xciii, 1).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But now thus saith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee, I have called thee by thy name; thou art mine" (Isaiah xliii, 1).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In proportion as the belief disappears that life and intelligence are in or of matter, the immortal facts of being are seen, and their only idea or intelligence is in God. Spirit is reached only through the understanding and demonstration of eternal Life and Truth and Love."

WOMEN OF CHURCH SEEK WORLD PEACE

The Christian church in these days is in the vanguard of that great movement driving the peoples of the world away from war. Amidst the tension of the hour in international relations and the confused thinking as to how to preserve the peace of the world, one fact stands out in bold characters, and that is the desire of the common people to find a way to keep out of war.

The church is making its contributions in its declarations that war is sinful and contrary to the way of life as revealed by Jesus Christ, and in its effort to lead Christians in their attempt to achieve a peaceful world built upon justice and brotherly love. In this movement the women of the church, through their various organized groups, and as individuals are taking a leading part, and in increasing numbers are seeking peace and pursuing it. How are they doing it? Through worship, first of all believing as they do that God is wisdom and that only through communion with Him will the true solution be found.—Missionary Review of the World.

POPE DECLARES PEACE ASSURED

Tells His Cardinals Results Of Recent Overtures to European Statesmen

VATICAN CITY, June 2 (AP).—Pope Pius told his cardinals today he had received "assurances of good will and of the resolve to maintain peace" from Europe's principal statesmen as a result of his recent overtures through Papal nuncios.

The Pope said he also had "other information" which had given "greater hope that the considerations of noble humanity, the consciousness of inevitable responsibility before God and before history, and the right judgment of the true interests of their people would have strength and weight to induce the governments in their efforts to reach a stable peace which would safeguard the liberty and the honor of nations to think and to act in a manner calculated to reduce and conquer all obstacles to understanding."

HOMAGE TO PONTIFF

The cardinals had come to pay homage to the Pontiff on his Saint's Day.

The Holy Father disclosed that his intervention took place "towards the beginning of last month" when "international dissensions" appeared "aggravated to the point of degenerating into bloody conflict."

He told the cardinals that "this step met in general with the sympathy of the governments," and "we received assurances of good will and of the resolve to maintain the peace which was so much desired by the people."

The Pope said that by his survey he had found the beginning of a "relaxation of the tension in men's souls."

HOW NEBRASKA CAME TO BE CALLED THE TREE-PLANTRES' STATE

Because of the abundance of antelope which once upon a time roved over its prairies, because of its numberless black streams darkened by rich soil in solution, because of its many bull bats which gorge upon predatory insects, because of its redoubtable Cornhuskers who call it a poor season if they come off second best once in a football game — Nebraska has earned the sobriquets of the Antelope State, Blackwater State, Bug-Eating State and Corn Huskers State.

Now, by any criterion for appraising appellations, this would seem to be far from an outline of inadequacy, but Nebraskans were not satisfied.

Proudly appreciative of the prowess of their athletes, they yearned for more firmly, more loftily founded fame.

And besides, somebody had once libelled them by implying, saying right out, in fact, that the nickname Bug-eaters was an allusion to "the poverty-stricken appearance of many parts of the State," and turned the knife round in the wound with the words, "If one living there were to refuse to eat bugs he would, like Polonius, soon be 'not where he eats, but where he is eaten.'"

So, all Nebraskans got to thinking.

A real nickname was what was wanted, one that was in keeping with the State spirit, tradition and distinctly peculiar personality and preferences of its citizens.

Someone remembered how Nebraskans, to a soul, celebrated Arbor Day, how Nebraskans, every man, woman and child, loved trees, planted them for any and no reason, planted one million of them in one day! Planted six hundred million of them in twenty years—and the quest for a cognomen was quit.

On April 4, 1895, the Legislative Assembly of the State of Nebraska, holding its twenty-fourth session at the capitol city of Lincoln, passed the following law:

"Whereas, the State of Nebraska has heretofore, in a popular sense been designated by names not in harmony with its history, industry, or ambition; and

"Whereas, the State of Nebraska is pre-eminently a tree-planting State; and

"Whereas, numerous, worthy and honorable State organizations have by resolution designated Nebraska as the 'Tree Planter's State,' therefore be it

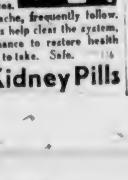

"Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Nebraska

"That Nebraska shall hereafter in a popular sense be known and referred to as the 'Tree Planters State.'"

And the Tree Planters State Nebraska became and has remained ever since.

"WORN OUT" AND WORRIED

Dragging around each day unable to do housework — cranky with the children — feeling miserable. Blaming it on "nerves" when the kidneys may be out of order. When kidneys fail the system clogs with impurities. Headaches — backache, frequently follow. Dodd's Kidney Pills help clear the system, giving nature a chance to restore health and energy. Easy to take. Safe. 116

That Body of Yours
by JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DIET CAN INCREASE GROWTH AND PROLONG LIFE

When a diet—both quality and quantity (meat, eggs, fish, milk, certain cereals, fruits and vegetables)—has been used in a family for a number of generations and the family has thrived on it, generation after generation, it might quite properly be called an adequate or sufficient diet. But the only way it could be learned whether any improvement could be made on this diet would be by adding or taking away from it, in quantity or variety. It would then be found whether the members of the family improved or failed in health by the changes made.

"Prof. H. C. Sherman kept rats for twenty-seven generations on a uniform diet, thus showing that the diet was entirely adequate or sufficient. Yet it was shown upon enriching this apparently adequate diet by increasing the proportion of milk in it that an improvement resulted in the general condition of the rats. There was more and efficient growth, lower death rate, higher mentality for all ages, an increase of 10 per cent in the average life span of the adults and a greater extension of the 'prime of life' that is they developed earlier and yet old age was delayed."

In referring to Dr. Sherman's experiment, Prof. E. W. H. Cruikshank, Aberdeen University, in his book, "Food and Physical Fitness," says:

"Heredity does and always will play an important part in determining stature (growth) and health. Climate also plays a part, even if a small part. In determining physical and mental characteristics, and it must now be accepted that diet also plays a part, in fact some believe a more important part than both heredity and climate combined."

I have spoken before of the two African tribes, living side by side, one vegetarian (cereals, tubers, peas, beans, green leaves) and the other meat eaters—meat, milk, blood, bananas, beans, maize and millet. At every age the meat-milk-banana eaters are taller and heavier than the vegetarians.

These experiments on animals and the experiments unconsciously performed by various races upon themselves show clearly how important are first class proteins (meat, milk), vitamins and mineral salts (green vegetables).

If a little more milk and perhaps a little more meat, eggs, or fish are added to the diet of the growing child or the adult who works or plays hard (doesn't sit at a desk all day) it might be all that is needed to give the optimum diet (best diet for the individual).

The local police were playing the local shop assistants and seemed well matched, apart from one young reserve on the shop assistants' side who had hurriedly been pressed into service.

This said youth was the possessor of a head of fair, wavy hair, and an irritating habit of tossing his head girlishly every few minutes to clear the aforementioned waves from his eyes.

He further infuriated the spectators by his ability of scuttling out of any possible contact with his burly opponents. However, despite his extreme care, he received a slight kick on the ankle, so he bent down and tenderly rubbed the joint, whereupon a raucous voice asked: "What's t'matter, luv? Laddered yer stocking?"

LEARNER

He: "Miss Elsie, what would you do if I gave you a kiss?"

She: "Well, I have no experience in that direction. What would you advise?"

CINCY REDS RALLY IN ELEVENTH FOR TRIUMPH

LOMBARDI'S CIRCUIT DRIVE WITH TWO ON DECIDES 4-0 TUSSLE

Defeat Boston Bees in Second Straight Overtime Game Behind Whitey Moore's Pitching—Giants Whip Cards, 8-2—Yankees Pound Indians, 17-5—Detroit Beats Boston Red Sox

By The Canadian Press

The world champion New York Yankees poured on their vaunted power yesterday to overwhelm Cleveland Indians 17-5 for the second straight win of their American Baseball League series. The Bronx bombers exploded eighteen hits, including one each by Joe DiMaggio and Bill Dickey, off four Cleveland pitchers. A Cleveland homer by Jeff Heath, formerly of Fort William, Ont., was good for a seventh-inning three-run rally.

Spotting Washington a five-run mid - game advantage, Chicago White Sox came from behind to defeat the Senators 7-5.

Big Thornton Lee southpawed the route for his season's fourth victory against five defeats.

Detroit Tigers were outhit by Boston Red Sox 14-13 and left fourteen runners stranded on bases but still managed to triumph 8-5 to square their three-game series, which ends tomorrow. Joe Cronin swatted a pair of homers for Boston.

New York Giants grouped five runs in the first frame to wallop St. Louis Cardinals 8-2 in a National League baseball encounter. Hank Danning honored to lead the Giants to their other three runs in the eighth.

HOMER DECIDES

Ernie Lombardi's ninth homer of the season, with two mates aboard, climaxed Cincinnati Reds' second straight overtime baseball victory over Boston Bees, by a 4-0 margin, in eleven innings. Milburn Shoffner, Baston southpaw, waged a keen duel with Whitey Moore.

Ralph Guldahl Now Leading Rich Golf Tournament in East

United States Open Champion Moves in Front of Select Field of Professionals After Two Sub-Par Rounds—Harry Cooper Holding Second Position—Snead Third

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, United States open golf champion, changed his tactics today and the man who has won his two major titles by coming from behind down the stretch turned into a front-runner. He shaved three strokes from the Fresh Meadow Country Club's par for thirty-six holes and moved into first place in the $5,000 Goodall round-robin tournament.

After fifty-four holes, and with seventy-two still to go, the Madison, N.J. pro had a score of plus 23, representing that many winning holes in three matches with six rivals. Starting today's play in fifth places, Guldahl fired a morning-round 68, two under standard figures, to be six up on Olin Dutra—himself a former open champion, and four up on Ben Hogan.

In the afternoon, Ralph followed up with a 69 that left him three up on Jimmy Thomson and five up on Horton Smith. For his morning score he pocketed the special $50 prize for the day's low round, and with his thirty-six-hole effort he took the lead in the race for $1,000 top money that will go to the winner on Sunday afternoon.

PICKS UP POINTS

Tomorrow morning he will go up against Harry Cooper and Tony Penna. Cooper is the only other man in the fifteen-star field who has yet to lose a match. The dapper little veteran from Eastern Point, Conn., came up with a morning 69 that picked up five points against Dick Metz and Jimmy Hines, of Great Neck, N.Y.

In the afternoon Cooper, with a par 70, beat Sam Snead, Canadian open champion, by one up and Paul Runyan by two, to boost himself into second place with a plus 15 score.

Snead, who won last year's inaugural after a two-hole play-off with Gene Sarazen, slid down into third place with a plus 13 rating.

A traveler was boasting in a public bar of all the wonderful things he had seen all over the world. He said there was nothing he had not seen.

A quiet little man got up from a corner of the bar and said politely: "Excuse me, sir, but have you ever had the D.T.'s?"

"No, of course not," snapped the traveler.

"Then you've seen nothing," replied the little man, quietly.

CONSERVATIVES WHIP SAILORS

Check In With 18-13 Victory in Senior Boxla—Young Liberals Win

Turning back a fighting Navy aggregation of stickhandlers, 18-13, last night at the Victoria Sports Centre, Conservatives moved into a first-place tie with the Alert Service in the senior division of the Victoria Box Lacrosse Commission. Each team has scored two victories in as many starts.

A six-goal lead at the end of the second quarter paved the way to victory for the Conservatives in a rugged exhibition of the gutted-stick game. The eventual winners were on the long end of a 9-3 score at the half-time breather, but in the two final periods the Esquimalt bluejackets bagged the odd marker in nineteen to outscore their opponents, 10-9.

After a dull first half, play livened up in the last two periods, with the sailors making a grand attempt to check in with their initial triumph. Play was fast and rough, and frequent penalties, some of them for five minutes, were whistled by Ray Ditchburn and "Cotton" Brynjolfson, the arbiters.

Trips to the "cooler" had their effect on the scoring. In the second quarter, when Navy players were on the penalty bench, the Conservatives scored valuable goals to gain the lead which eventually carried them through to victory. Later in the fixture the sailors gained some measure of revenge when they fired home telling markers while Conservative players were off on penalties.

Four players, Entwhistle, Carney, Baker and Overitch, accounted for all but one of the Conservatives' goal while Lawrence with seven and E. DeCosta with three were the top scorers for the Navy.

Score by periods:

Conservatives	3	6	3	6	—18
Navy	2	1	3	7	—15

Teams:

Conservatives—Jury, Entwhistle, Carney (4), McSween, Mair, Throughton, Ludbrook (1), O'Connell, Carney (4), Hodgkinson, Singleton, Coleman, Harmstrom, Ball, Baker (4) and Overitch (5).

Navy—Mundie, Malin, Miller, Lungley, Jones, Dobson, Foster, Brown, Howse (2), Lawrence (7), Smith (1), Thompson, DeCosta (3) and Paul.

YOUNG LIBERALS WIN

Manager Vic Simpson's Saanich Young Liberals took the curtain-raiser, a juvenile division match, when they defeated Owl Drug, 12-5, in a fast game. The clubs battled on fairly even terms during the two opening periods, with the eventual winners reaching the half-time rest interval with the count 5-4 in their favor.

Young Liberals were the better aggregation in the final two sessions, scoring seven goals with their opponents being able to sag the netting but once. Druggists, however never gave up trying and with a few more games will make things interesting for the other clubs in the division.

The triumph enabled the Saanich youngsters to go into a tie with Oaklands for top berth in the divisional standings, each club having three points.

Score by periods:

Young Liberals	2	3	4	3	—12
Owl Drug	0	4	0	1	— 5

Teams:

Saanich Young Liberals—Bryant, Knowles, Symmons, Sage, D. Simpson (1), Thomas (4), Scott, A. Sage, C. Scott, Barr (6), Pellow (1), Estridge, Davies and B. Simpson.

Owl Drug—Monk, Scott (1), Uttke, Baker, Scott, Gillis, Pritchard, Ball, Rhodes, Allen (4), Clarke, McCaulay and McCreedie.

Tony Galento and Louis to Sign Up For June 28 Bout

Will Meet New York State Boxing Commission Today to Place Signatures on Papers—May Shift Scene of Fight to Philadelphia—Several Arguments Are Expected

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—While victorious Lou Nova and his badly damaged victim, Maxie Baer, licked their wounds from last night's savage engagement at Yankee Stadium, plans went forward today for another bristling encounter at high noon tomorrow, when Champion Joe Louis and Tony Galento meet to sign the papers for their title bout on June 28.

There is a strong possibility the session will end in a wild uproar with Galento defying the New York State Boxing Commission and demanding the scrap be transferred to Philadelphia. All the principals will be searched for weapons before Brigadier-General John J. Phelan (retired) calls the meeting to order.

Joe Jacobs, Tony's manager, is going before the commission to demand he be given a manager's and second's licence in New York State, so he can work in Galento's corner against Louis. The commission repeatedly has refused even to talk to Joe.

After the disappointing crowd of 16,738 paying customers that watched Nova cut Baer up and force his retirement in the eleventh round last night, it will be quite all right with Promoter Mike Jacobs if the commission gets stuffy and forces him to take the big fight out of town.

TICKETS READY

"The tickets are printed and ready, but not one will go out until tomorrow's meeting is over," said Jacobs.

The Galento camp has wanted to hold the fight in Philadelphia all along. Tony is a great favorite there. Louis has held out for New York, but the fact that Nova and Baer each received only $22,517 for last night's engagement might have impressed the champion.

Meanwhile, there was no further word from Bay Carlen, Nova's manager on the subject of a September scrap against the winner of the June 28 affair. He promised to make a statement tomorrow. The expectation was that he would ask for a continuance until next Summer after noting the ease with which Baer laid rights on Nova's chin.

VICTORIA XI IS SELECTED

Team to Oppose Touring Scottish Footballers on Wednesday Chosen

Manager Jimmy Hall, of the Victoria All-Stars, announced the line-up yesterday of the team which will oppose the touring Scottish professionals here on Wednesday evening at the Royal Athletic Park at 6 o'clock. In doing so, the boss of the club stated it was the best available squad in the city and said the boys have been training hard and would be out to give their best.

The line-up follows: Wally Rowe, goal; Arnie Wilkinson and Bobby Bell, backs; Cliff Robbins, Glen Robbins and George Leggett (captain), halves; Gordie Bell, "Scotty" Stewart, Alex Ross, Ralph Cosier and Jack Okell, forwards; reserves, Louis DeCosta, Tony Hope, "Scotty" Robinson, Eddie DeCosta and Alan Raeside.

On Sunday afternoon at Bullen Park the club will meet a team managed by Charlie Lewis in a practice match at 2.45. Lewis' eleven will be chosen from the following: DeCosta, H. Sage, Cockrill, Fieldhouse, Stofer, Bradley, R. Okell, N. Sage, Robinson, Morgan, Dallimore, Wyatt, Fogden, McBride, Holness, Thomson and Cann. Players unable to turn out are asked to telephone the manager at G 2917 or E 1416.

The Scottish team arrived in Vancouver yesterday and will play their first match this evening in Nanaimo at 5 o'clock. Fourteen players, under George Graham, secretary of the English Football Association, are in the party. On Monday the team will meet Vancouver, and then come here for Wednesday's fixture. Saturday the Scots will meet the British Columbia All-Stars on the Mainland.

"Well, what do you want?" asked the host.

"Nothing," was the reply.

"All right," was the rejoinder, "you'll find it in the jug on the shelf where the whisky was."

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Fire Fountain—Fire and water flowing simultaneously from the same fountain have been a familiar paradox in Colfax, Louisiana, for more than forty years. The fountain came into existence in 1899 through an attempt to drill a water well. A mixture of salt water and gas bubbled forth instead of the hoped-for drinking water. The gas was ignited to prevent it from endangering the town.

"The WATER controls the QUALITY!"

IT IS no exaggeration to say that water is one of the most important ingredients in the distilling of liquors. Other things being equal, the quality of the water decides just how good the liquor can be when properly distilled and aged.

Access to abundant supplies of the right kind of water—pure, crystal-clear, non-alkaline—is exactly the reason why the plant of United Distillers Limited is located in Vancouver, and also why the "UDL" brands of Rye Whisky and London Dry Gin can hold their own in competition with the best, in Eastern Canada and in a dozen other countries throughout the world.

When you consider the reasonable prices at which these good UDL liquors are available, you cannot but agree that UDL Value is something that every economy-minded person should consider.

YOUNG GIRL WINS TITLE

Sheila Whittemore Champion of Oak Bay Elementary Schools

Sheila Whittemore, young student at Monterey School, is the girl athletic champion of Oak Bay Elementary Schools. The little miss won the coveted honor yesterday at Cranmore Road, in competition with school chums from Monterey and the Willows. The newly-crowned titleholder put together one first and two seconds for a total of seven points, one more than Rita Kaltenbach, Megan Scott and Muriel Byram, all tied for the runner-up position.

James Kinghorn, competing in the under-thirteen events, and Clarence Day, competing in the over thirteen events, finished in a deadlock in the battle for the boys' championship, each compiling nine points. They will hold the silverware for six months each. Kinghorn led the field in the 100 and 220-yard sprints, and annexed the broad jump honors. Day finished first in the high and broad jump, placed second in the 440 yards and third in the century dash.

MONTEREY WINS

The R. W. Mayhew Cup, symbolic of inter-school tug-of-war championship, was won by Monterey. Presented by R. W. Mayhew, M.P., Federal member for Victoria, the trophy is one of three competed for annually by students from the two institutions.

As usual, the sports were capably handled by a splendid committee of teachers under the guidance of Captain F. G. Dexter, supervising principal of Oak Bay Elementary Schools. The events were run off in really fast time with little or no delay.

The large array of prizes made an imposing display on the table immediately in front of the entrance to the Oak Bay High School. R. W. Murdoch, chairman of the Oak Bay School Board, presented the many awards after being introduced by Capt. F. G. Dexter.

ATLAS SHOWS SCENES OF ROYAL VISIT HERE

Commencing today, the Atlas Theatre will show news shots of Their Majesties in Victoria. These pictures were taken by M. Preisgerwerk and J. Garrard, of the Atlas Theatre under permit from Ottawa. These pictures include several shots of the Royal processions and Canadian and American Boy Scouts lining the streets with Canadian sailors. Several shots of the veterans were also secured, both on parade and being reviewed by Their Majesties. Some excellent views were secured at Beacon Hill Park where His Majesty presented the King's Color to the Navy. On the departure of Their Majesties some of the best pictures were obtained, showing the King reviewing the Canadian Scottish Guard and later, on the bridge of the Ss. Prince Robert, a close-up was secured of Their Majesties waving farewell.

UNABLE TO HOLD CROWD

the Royal visit, and more than 300 members of Edmonton units answered the emergency call and kept the crowds back to form a narrow pathway for the Royal procession to arrive and leave.

STAY FOR HOURS

People were lined four deep as the Royal car went to the hotel nine minutes behind schedule, and all but a few remained to watch the King and Queen leave two hours later.

The first aid staff was trebled as the women and children began falling steadily while waiting for Their Majesties to appear on the balcony.

Besides the people on the streets, hundreds covered surrounding rooftops and took all available window space in nearby buildings.

ALWAYS WRONG

The piccolo player in the band was a habitual grumbler, and always complained of his bad luck.

One day the band was playing before a rich Eastern potentate who was so pleased with the performance that he commanded that all the instruments should be filled with gold coins.

"There you are," sighed the piccolo player. "That's a typical example of my luck. Mine is the smallest in the band."

The bandsmen spent the money in a wild spree—with the result that the next performance was (to put it mildly) "not so good."

The great man was furious, and ordered his servants to ram their instruments down their throats.

The piccolo player turned to his colleagues. "My bad luck again," he said. "Mine is the only one that will go down."

"POPLAR"

Jones: Good evening, old chap. Thought I'd drop in and see you about that overcoat you borrowed from me last week.

Brown: I'm sorry, old man, but I lent it to a friend of mine. Were you wanting it?

Jones: Well, not for myself, but the chap I borrowed it from says the owner wants it."

LAUNDRYMEN SCORE FINE LEAGUE WIN

Defeat Longshoremen, 7-2, Behind Pitching of Bill Buddell

HOW THEY STAND

"A" Section

	W.	L.	Pct.
Longshoremen	5	1	.833
Douglas Tire	3	3	.500
Camerons	2	3	.400
New Method	2	3	.400
Kentractors	1	3	.250

Last night's score:

New Method Laundry 8, Longshoremen 2.

Manager Bert Simpson's New Method Laundry softballers climbed aboard the winning van last night at the expense of the Victoria Longshoremen, first-berth occupants in the senior "A" section of the Lower Island Softball Association. The fact that the stevedores were unbeaten prior to the fixture caused no worry to the laundrymen, but made them all the more determined to be the first club to humble the freight jugglers. They did it in decisive fashion by checking in with an 8-2 victory.

Bill Buddell, a young mound ace with the Colwood Wood nine last season, turned in a masterly performance on the hillock and let the stevedores down with four base blows, never giving up more than one hit in any frame. His clubmates played smartly behind him and snared many hard-hit balls.

On the attacking side the New Method batters had a decided edge, and finally brought their big guns into action in the seventh frame. It was during that frame that the laundrymen laced into "Rosy" McLellan's offerings for a barrage of base hits and sent him to the showers. Six successive bingles and five runs were clouted by the winners during their seventh-inning attack on the stevedores' hurling star.

TO THE RESCUE

Bill Teskey, soldier twirler, was called to the rescue and immediately put a halt to the laundrymen's attack. He worked one and two-thirds innings and did not give up a single base clout.

Buddell had the situation in hand all of the way and was never really in any danger of losing the ball game. He displayed a good fast ball and sent seven batters back to the dugout via the strikeout route. McLellan fanned five and was nicked for eight hits during his six and one-third innings on the hillock.

Gordie Cooper, laundrymen's second sacker, hit for four bases in the first inning with the bases empty.

Score by innings:

Longshoremen ..... 001 010 000—2
New Method ..... 101 100 50x—8

Batteries—McLellan, Teskey and Knapp; Buddell and Berry.

SPENCERS WIN

Playing at Beacon Hill, Spencers turned back the hard-hitting Harknett Fuel softballers, 19-17, in a "C" section fixture. Ten big runs in the second inning helped the storemen on the road to victory.

Taking the lead for the first time in the sixth frame, Cameron Lumber came from behind to defeat The Times, 10-4, at Victoria West Park. The evening newspaper crew bagged their quartette of runs in the second inning.

SUPPLEMENTARY

The woman sitting in the specialist's waiting room was portly.

At a summons from an attendant she rose and waddled into the specialist's sanctum. The doctor threw up his hands in horror.

"My good woman!" he exclaimed, "you are stouter than ever! Have you been following the treatment I prescribed? Are you quite sure that you ate exactly what I ordered?"

"Everything," replied the patient. "And nothing else?"

"Nothing whatever," she replied, "except, of course, my ordinary meals."

THE "GIVE-AWAY"

"You must be growing tired of me," complained Mr. Newlywed; "you never call me 'dear' as other men's wives do."

"Do they?" she asked.

Moderate Rally Is Worked Up On Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP).—The stock market worked up a moderate rallying urge today but forenoon gains running to a point or more were chopped down to minor fractions in the majority of cases at the close.

Traders had little to go on in the way of inspiring news and the mild nibbling of buyers was attributed partly to the belief of most that Thursday's sell-off may have provided a needed "correction" after the lengthy advance.

Dealings were the slowest for a full session since May 19. Transfers totaled 400,040 shares against 598,540 the day before. The Associated Press average of sixty issues managed to retain net improvements of 2 of a point at 47.2.

Steels were supported on reports of additional upturn in mill operations was a nearby probability. Motors kept above water despite a drop of 25,295 units in this week's automobile output.

Improved sales volumes for food store chains bolstered stocks in this group. Safeway Stores again edged into new high territory for 1939. Expanding retail spending brought plus marks for Sears Roebuck, McCrory National Dairy and Kroger.

United States Government bonds today recorded another good upturn. Against a few minor dips the Federal list showed gains running to a top 15-32, many to record highs.

Twenty rails, 28.00, up 0.05.
Fifteen utilities, 23.47, up 0.07.
Forty bonds, 89.57, up 0.06.

WHEAT FUTURES ARE FORCED DOWN

WINNIPEG, June 2 (CP).—Beneficial rains in many sections of the North American Spring and Winter wheat belts, together with absence of aggressive support, forced wheat futures prices more than a cent lower on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Final quotations were 3-4 to 1 1-8 cents down with July at 64 1-2, October 65 1-2 to 65 5-8, November 66 3-4 and December 66 3-4 cent.

No export sales of Canadian wheat were reported.

Liverpool dropped 1 3-4 to 1 1-2d while Chicago lost 1-4 to 5-8 cent and Buenos Aires remained unchanged.

In the coarse grain pit, mills were credited with buying October oats although most of the action centred around commission house liquidation which carried most commodity prices lower. Cash wheat trade was uninteresting.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET

The first shipment of the season of Yakima Bing cherries arrived on the local row yesterday. The cherries are of very fine quality, wholesalers reported.

Two cars of Valencia oranges, a car of new potatoes and a car of grapefruit from California came in yesterday. They were preceded by shipments of carrots, celery and cabbage.

Local peas and potatoes are now on the market and are expected to be plentiful within another week. Local bunch beets and a few carrots are available. Hothouse tomatoes are reported to have dropped 25 cents a case.

A shipment of cantaloupes from California reached here yesterday. The price on this commodity is slightly easier.

Local strawberries and local gooseberries are plentiful, with the former commodity now supplying the market.

THE CANDID CHILD

Jones called to see his friend Smith and, while waiting, there entered little Miss Smith, aged seven. Jones sat at the piano and played something he thought would appeal to the child. When he had finished he turned and said: "Well, what do you think of that?"

"I can't play, either," was the unexpected reply.

RAINS IMPROVE PRAIRIE CROPS

Threat of Grasshoppers and Drift Lands Now Causing Some Concern

WINNIPEG, June 1.—Light to heavy rains have improved crops in most sections of the three Prairie Provinces during the week. Continued threat of grasshopper damage and failure of many badly drifted fields to fully revive are the major causes of concern, particularly in Saskatchewan. Considerable improvement has been shown in Southern Manitoba, and in Central Alberta conditions are now said to be satisfactory, according to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture, Canadian National Railways.

In Southern Manitoba rains have improved conditions generally. Cutworms are causing some damage and rain is still required in some sections. At many points throughout Central and Southern Manitoba wheat is reported up to nine inches in height.

NORTHERN MANITOBA

Only scattered showers have occurred over Northern Manitoba during the week. While further general rain would be welcome no point in the division reports crops suffering through lack of moisture. The average stand of wheat is around five inches, with oats and barley showing in most districts.

In Southern Saskatchewan rains fell in varying amounts from light showers to three inches during the past week following a period of high winds, which resulted in considerable soil drifting. More rainfall is required in the lighter precipitation districts to assist recovery of damaged fields. Practically all subdivisions report grasshoppers becoming very active. While cutworms are also showing at a number of points. In other sections wheat not damaged by soil drifting, is showing up well. Wheat is up a good five inches in some places.

HOPPERS HATCHING

On the Saskatoon division, weather was warmer with light winds and many scattered showers. Land is in good condition at the majority of points, although more rain will be required shortly in the westward part of the Touchwood and over the Asquith subdivisions. Wheat is variously reported as from one to six inches in height. Grasshoppers are hatching in large numbers in the south central section.

Northern Saskatchewan reports weather much warmer with only scattered light showers occurring. Land is drying out fast at most points and rain is required over the Prince Albert division. Coarse grains are above ground, but this is not general. Grasshoppers are reported active at a number of points and some damage has already occurred. Rain is required in most districts.

CENTRAL ALBERTA

Weather has been almost ideal for crop growth in Central Alberta. Light to heavy rains occurred over most of the Calgary division, and wheat is now four to six inches in height. Moisture is sufficient for the next two weeks. The majority of points over the division report prospects as quite promising.

In the Edmonton territory wheat seeding is practically completed and coarse grains nearly so. Wheat is up to six inches in height and moisture conditions are reported as good over most of the division.

In the Peace River territory weather has been cool and showery. Grain is reported to be growing fast and prospects are excellent. Some slight damage from worms has occurred in some districts, but generally, conditions are very favorable. Moisture is sufficient for the next three weeks.

MIGHT BE WORSE

Brown: "What makes you look so blue and sulky lately?"

Smith: "I have six grown-up daughters, none of them married or likely to be from what I can see."

Brown: "And you are blue and sulky over it? You are the most ungrateful mortal that ever breathed. I have seven daughters all married, all have children, and I've got to support the whole crowd."

FOUR HUNDRED GO INTO CAMP

Province Prepares to Resist Objections to Summer Relief Scheme

Provincial relief officials announced yesterday that 425 single homeless men had been taken out of Vancouver to provincial Summer camps, with more to follow as soon as their cases had been investigated.

At the camps the men will receive 30 cents an hour for work, with a deduction of 75 cents a day for board and a larger deduction for deferred pay.

Out of average earnings of $57 monthly, it was explained, the men will have $28.50 saved for them in deferred pay; will contribute $22.50 towards board costs, and will have $6 left over for pocket money and immediate needs.

The men being moved to Summer camps include some who were also in Winter relief camps and whose deferred pay from the Winter camps ran out at the end of May, relief officials said. That fact induced heavier deductions for deferred pay in connection with the Summer camps scheme.

The Province, meanwhile, prepared to resist objections to the scheme, on the ground that it is the best that can be arranged at present with the means available.

JAILED FOR FRAUDS

REGINA, June 2 (CP).—Conviction and sentence of two and one-half years in penitentiary imposed upon William Mandryk, merchant, of Cudworth, Sask., for his part in a series of relief frauds in Fish Creek Municipality, was upheld by the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal today.

New Westminster To Have Beer by Glass in Public

New Westminster will have beer by the glass in licensed premises as a result of a Provincial order-in-council issued yesterday, confirming the affirmative vote on the recent plebiscite. The Ferguson Division of Kaslo-Slocan will have the same privilege by another order.

CAR THIEVES ARE GIVEN LONG TERMS

Magistrate Hall sentenced Arthur Bardsley to serve two years in the penitentiary for the theft of an automobile when the accused appeared on remand in the city police court yesterday.

In imposing sentences, the court commented: "You were released from prison this year after a previous conviction. You had with you a blackjack. I am convinced you stole the car, and that you did it as part of the continuation of a criminal career."

Found guilty of a similar offence, Alfred Simpson was sentenced to serve one year of hard labor in Oakalla. Magistrate Hall stated: "I am surprised, Simpson, that you have had an education—and that with your advantages, you came to this position."

QUITE AT HOME

Manager: "That young woman whom I placed at this counter a year ago already knows more about the business than you do, and I find I shall have to put her at the head of the department, though I fear it will be rather unpleasant for you to be under her orders, after being in charge so long."

Clerk: "Oh, no, not the slightest, sir. I am getting used to that. We were married last Spring."

REPROACH

"You see, Hilda, if you had not quarrelled with the neighbors they would have looked after the cacti for us."—Hummel, Hamburg.

"Daddy, give me a drop of your hair-restorer. My toothbrush has hardly a hair left on it."—Hummel, Hamburg.

CHAPTER XXXV

Tables were tactfully placed far from each other for privacy's sake. Milton had already ordered their meal.

"It is so lovely!" Alita declared, admiring the place. "And I am famished."

Milton had ordered well. They ate in virtual silence, save for the muted, beautiful music from a small Mexican orchestra. At dessert time they were able to count stars, and the lagoon was reflecting white swans and pampas grasses and palm and colored lights in veritable fairy-land fashion.

"What did you have to tell me?" Alita begged now.

"Not yet," Milton smiled. "Give me ten minutes more."

Ten minutes sufficed to get them into a silver-colored canoe—Alita almost buried in a mass of pillows—and around the first bend in the lovely lagoon.

"Now?" she asked, gently.

"Now," he agreed. "Alita—I love you!"

She sat up abruptly.

"Please—the canoe—! But I do love you! I have been trying for days to tell you so. I want to take you away, at once!"

Alita had expected some surprise from Milton this evening. And toward sundown, she was half ready to admit he might propose marriage tonight—he had been so attentive of late, had "rushed" her so openly and romantically, so constantly and expensively. But she had hardly dared expect it would be done with such consummate skill.

He had picked the perfect setting, and the soft music served as a faint but entrancing background.

She looked at him in surprise and sheer delight. Gracefully he slid his paddle into the canoe, and moved to sit very near her.

"Alita, darling. Must I tell you how beautiful you are? How can I do that now? In one evening? May I not have a lifetime to try it? May I not just start now, and work forever telling you of my love?"

She gasped a little. He had put his arm around her, taken her hand.

"Oh, I know—you might have thought I'd propose sort of nonchalantly, flippantly, the so-called modern way, Alita. We do maintain a kind of sophisticated front in society nowadays. But when I see you, when I think of you—it touched my heart! Don't you see? Don't you understand? It is no moment for pose and sham."

He spoke so earnestly and so fluently that he verily hypnotized the girl. He might have been a movie hero proposing, a Don Juan of the olden days. And he caught the impressionable, youthful Alita Bradley instantly in the glamor of him. He appeared so handsome, so polished and strong.

Silently then he leaned to kiss her, and did so. She had no answered him.

"Tonight?" he whispered, pleading. "We will fly away, literally westward. We can be married in Hollywood. Or better—at the Grand Central Airport, the moment we get there! An adventure! Then a long ocean honeymoon, or anywhere you say. Will you, Alita, darling?"

"M-Milton!" She was almost sobbing, in the emotional stress.

"Will you? Now?"

She nodded. She could not possibly have refused him.

She had been doing exactly as she pleased of late anyway. Since she left the Bar B ranch, her life had been her own, with no duties, with nothing but one complete routine of personal luxury and pleasure. Milton Girardeau had come into her life in a romantic whirlwind. Not this climax. She nodded to him.

He kissed her again, patted her arm, and took his paddle once more.

"Time is short," he declared, enthusiastically. "We can just catch the westbound plane. We'll go just as we are—an elopement! And telephone back when it is done! I have already felt out your parents—they will be happy, Alita, dear!"

"And so will we," she said then, in a strained voice. Somehow she just couldn't talk much. Romance was whirling around her, almost to the point of confusion.

Without even stopping for his hat, without so much as a wrap for her, they dashed to the airport.

"I was conceited," he confessed then. "And cautious too. I felt you did love me, and would come, so I sent my bags down in advance. But the real reason was to have some emergency wraps for the high mountain crossing, darling. My own overcoats are in here, and will keep you warm until we can buy your new wardrobe tomorrow. From the finest shops in all the West. Nothing, my dear, shall be too lovely for you!"

Nothing, my dear, shall be too lovely for you!

The sentence was still echoing in her mind when the great transport plane roared away with them from the Phoenix landing field.

(To Be Continued)

LIFE'S ESSENTIAL

We may live without poetry, music and art;
We may live without conscience and live without heart;
We may live without friends; we may live without books;
But civilized man can not live without cooks.

He may live without books—what is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope—what is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love—what is passion but pining?
But where is the man who can live without dining?

JUSTICE MISLED

Abraham Lincoln Carter appeared before the bar of justice in Staunton, Virginia, charged with stealing seven dollars and fifty cents. Evidence was strong against him, but the young lawyer appointed by the judge to defend the prisoner put up a strong plea and Abraham was acquitted.

A little later counsel and client met outside the court house. "I worked hard for you this morning, Abraham," said the lawyer, "and the court pays me very little. There is a big wood pile out behind my house and you had better work on it two or three days and pay your part."

"Yes, suh," replied Abraham, "but couldn't I pay in money stead o' work?"

"Money? Where will you get any money, you rascal?"

"Well, boss, I reckon I still got dat seven dollars an' fifty cents."

ROYAL CAR WAS MADE BY FORD

King's Automobile Serviced Here—Luxurious Fittings Drew Attention

Canadians are among the world's most motor-minded people, and a car of outstanding design or beauty immediately excites their curiosity. Because of this there has been much speculation as to the make of the magnificent car in which Their Majesties rode in their official drive around Victoria on Tuesday. The car was a V-12 Lincoln, specially made by the Ford Motor Company, although its distinguishing marks were so inconspicuous as to pass unnoticed by the thousands who lined the route.

The car was shipped by the regular midnight boat from Vancouver on Monday, and early on Tuesday morning it was washed, polished and serviced by the Ford Company's representatives here, the National Motor Co., Ltd., in time for the ceremonial parade around the city. L. deS. Duke, of the local firm, who had charge of the Royal car while it was being serviced, could not say enough in praise of its skillful craftsmanship.

SPECIAL DESIGN

"Although the car appeared to be much larger than the standard size Lincoln, this effect was achieved by the special design of the body," Mr. Duke said.

"The interior upholstery and details were sumptuous in the extreme," he declared. "While we had the car in our care for only a few hours, one could not help but note the exceptional beauty of the fittings, which were of Canadian manufacture and of solid silver."

The seat for driver and footman in the car was upholstered in blue leather. The rear compartment, where the King and Queen sat, was finished in a soft whip cord material, overlying sponge rubber cushions, the two features combining to provide the utmost in comfort.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

"STOPPING" ACTION

Speeding train, taken at box-camera shutter speed. Not blurred, because moving almost directly toward camera.

THE best way to get clear, sharp action pictures is to use a camera with fast shutter action—and, of course, correspondingly fast lens.

However, many of us don't have fast cameras. So, to take pictures of real action, showing fast-moving objects without blur, we must utilize several simple tricks.

The first trick is—shoot moving objects when they are coming almost straight toward or straight away from you. An object appears to move much slower when receding or approaching, and, in a picture, is less likely to blur.

A second trick—move the camera so that the speeding object is kept centred in the view finder as you shoot. This trick is especially good with boats, motorcycles, and racing automobiles. The background is blurred—but the moving object will be sharp. Of course, the camera must be moved smoothly and steadily, and a little practice is necessary. You will find that with a little practice, pictures taken in this manner are very effective.

A third trick—snap action during momentary pauses. These occur in most sports. A player is moving rapidly—he halts for just a fraction of a second, to turn or change direction—and in that split-second you get your picture. You must keep alert to catch these pauses—but they're worth it.

Take a couple of rolls of films and try a few action shots, using the tricks I've described. You'll be surprised at the things you can do with your simple box camera or inexpensive folding camera! — John van Guilder.

CONSECRATION OF THE KING'S COLOR

Sir,—In the fighting forces of the Empire a religious service of consecration has preceded the presentation by the sovereign of the Queen's or the King's Color. Therefore it is important that there should be on record an accurate description of the consecration which took place on Tuesday, May 30 last, at the parade of such a record number of the officers and ratings of the Royal Canadian Navy at Beacon Hill in the presence of His Majesty King George. There were several mistakes in both the Victoria papers; hence I take this opportunity of recording as a close eyewitness of the service and the presentation.

There were five clergy who stood in a line on the south side of the pile of drums upon which the cased color was lying, and taking them in order from the east, they were: Bishop J. C. Cody, D.D., Bishop of Victoria; Rev. A. B. Wood, chaplain; Rev. J. Hood, the United Church; Bishop H. E. Sexton, D.D., Bishop of Columbia; Rev. A. Bischlager, chaplain. On the north side of the drums were three officers of the Royal Canadian Navy: Lieut.-Com. F. G. Hart, Commander J. C. I. Edwards and Captain G. C. Jones.

The ceremony began by Lieut.-Com. Hart removing the case from the King's Color. Then on the arrival of Their Majesties, Rev. J. Hood stepped to the east side of the drums and, facing the dais, recited a special prayer for the King and Empire. Following this Bishop Sexton, with his chaplain, moved to the east side of the drums and said: "To the service of God and the hallowing of His Holy Name; to the love of our King and country, and to the welfare of mankind; to the maintenance of honor and the sanctity of man's plighted word; to the protection of all those who pass to and fro on their lawful occasions; to the preservation of order and good government." Response: "We dedicate ourselves afresh." The Bishop laid his right hand on the Color and made the sign of the cross over it, at the same time reciting the prayer of consecration. During this service, the Bishop of Victoria and his chaplain removed their birettas.

After the consecration was completed, Lieut. Hibbard knelt in front of the drums and His Majesty, receiving the Color from Captain Brodeur, presented it to the Color officer, who then stepped back to his escort, turned about, slow marched to the centre of the Color Guard, halted and turned about, and slowly lowered the Color to the ground in the Royal Salute.

For the information of the spectators, I can report that the special form of service for the consecration was kindly printed by Diggon-Hibben, Ltd., for free issue, at their store. F. V. LONGSTAFF (Major ret.)

50 King George Terrace, Victoria, B.C., June 2, 1939

AT BEACON HILL

Sir,—With reference to arrangements for Up-Island children in Victoria on Tuesday, to say that they were disappointed bitterly and deeply, as only impressionable childish minds can be, is expressing very mildly a widespread opinion. It is not too much to expect that the capital city of the province would have made reasonable provision for children.

The children at Beacon Hill had planned for the day on which they would go to Victoria to see their King and Queen. It was to be a day of days, one of never-to-be-forgotten memories. They were enthusiastic as only children can be. They boarded the train in an ecstasy of joy. Upon arrival at the park they found they were to be herded into a pen from which they were supposed to get a superb view of proceedings . . . from afar off. Everything was all right until lunch had been consumed, and officials began to shepherd other bands of lambs into the corral.

When the maximum density was reached in the enclosure and when the sun's blazing rays combined to deflate the happy optimism with which they had started out, officials found it necessary to occupy their time by rousing all seated children to a standing position. Then when the King and Queen did come these same officials did their level best to obstruct the view by placing themselves in front of the enclosure through which no child dared to pass, for fear of arousing the anger of the navy.

Children had a distant view only, and that after coming prepared to view Their Majesties from the best viewpoint, reserved as rumor had it, for school children.

It was in this same dusty, poorly-constructed coop that they stood for almost four hours. For three hours they stood (officials objected to allowing them to sit on the ground) without any entertainment, when surely a band might have been provided. For a long half-hour they strained their ears to hear the speech of His Majesty over a public address system that worked so poorly that even the navy surrounding the speakers must have had a hard time hearing a word. And to sum it up in the words of disillusionized youth, it was "the biggest gyp" for a long time.

It is not unlikely that some of the veterans could express themselves much more emphatically in very picturesque English than by saying that it was a gyp.

Possibly many of the general public felt, and not without reason, that they had been left out of the whole show. They at least went away carrying with them a hope that there would be someone who could give a reason, not an excuse, for such inexcusably bad arrangements. But it is possible that the more they think it over the less reason can be discerned.

It is to be hoped that should such an occasion ever occur again that it will not be expected that Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and others connected with kindred organization will be required to provide themselves with X-ray optical apparatus with which to perceive what is going on through rank on rank of sailors who cut off any possible chance they had of seeing Their Majesties.

Is that good enough? Is it sufficient that the general public doesn't get half a chance at a ceremony that should go down in history? Is it good policy to transport thousands of children hundreds of miles to give them the biggest letdown they will ever receive anywhere? Those are questions that should be answered.

"Is this the pugilist who was run into by a motorist?" asked the house surgeon.

"No, he's the motorist who ran into the pugilist."

According to Culbertson

Bridge players can be divided sharply into two groups, underbidders and overbidders. Of course this generality must be qualified by taking into consideration those chameleonlike players who underbid on Tuesdays, Fridays and Sundays, and overbid on the other days. (The number of accurate bidders is so pitifully small that in taking a census we need not bother our heads about them.)

The chronic overbidder, strangely enough, is not always one of those ebullient souls who trip blithely through life, expecting heaven to protect them; he is just as apt to be a Gloomy Gus in private life, confining his orgies of optimism to the bridge table. And the habitual underbidder is not necessarily a sweet old lady who shudders at the somewhat anomalous word "vulnerable." It is just as apt to be a "he" who played fullback on the varsity, but who cannot bring himself to a good, rousing bid on less than six honor tricks and ten winners.

This lengthy and perhaps irrelevant dissertation brings us to the following hand and the extremely vigorous bidding of the North player.

South, dealer.
Match-point duplicate.
North-South vulnerable.

♣ J 10 7 5

SOUTH
♠ A 10 9 4 3

♣ K 8 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Before I say what I think of North's bidding it is only fair to admit that South's opening bid was a trifle shaded. Nevertheless, I hasten to add, I am completely in sympathy with these light bids — particularly when the bidder is vulnerable. This statement may surprise many readers, but if they will examine further into the entire philosophy of bidding they will see the logic of it. If a player is not vulnerable he can often afford to pass questionable holdings with the expectation, or at least the hope, of entering the auction at a higher level. But when he is vulnerable he dare not plan any such thing. The danger of shading values slightly to make an opening one-bid is nothing like as great as the danger of entering the arena for the first time at the two or three level. In sum, then, the vulnerable bidder must decide between opening a light hand and being shut out of the bidding entirely. When nonvulnerable this fear does not loom as large.

Now let us get at North's horrible performance. It is true that he had four honor tricks, but his heart suit was very weak. Hence, when he made a jump takeout to three hearts, he expressed, or at least implied, in that one bid all the values of his hand, including the excellent fit for partner's suit. When South could do no more than rebid his spades (virtually forced under the circumstances, since he did not want to bid no trump with a singleton heart) North should have contented himself with a raise to four spades. If there were to be any further slam efforts they would have to come from South. The four no trump (North-South were using the Blackwood convention) was in itself overly ambitious. The following jump to six spades, after South had shown one ace with his five diamond response was beyond the pale.

Needless to say, the contract was not fulfilled. South would have had to find a remarkable lay of cards to bring it home and this time was not that lucky.

TOMORROW'S HAND

P.S.—THE PLATE WAS FULL

Once when Rowland Hill was making an appeal for charity a note was handed to him asking if it would be right for a bankrupt to subscribe.

During his sermon Rowland Hill mentioned the fact and said that no person could in Christian honesty subscribe if he were a bankrupt. "But," he added, "I should advise you who are not insolvent not to pass the plate without giving, lest your neighbor should say: 'There goes the bankrupt!'"
